Treaty Vote Set For Today

Japan Braces For Strikes

Leftist Mobs Seize Control Of Rail Stations

TOKYO (AP) — Thousands of screaming left-wingers clamped a four-hour transport shutdown on Japan Wednesday in the prelude to nationwide strikes and mass demonstrations. The aim was to prevent the new U.S.-Japanese security treaty from taking effect.

Massed formations from the Red-tinged Sohyo Labor Federation and the radical Zengakuren Student Federation took control of all major railroad stations in Tokyo and other major cities during the night.

After brief fights with railroad guards, they occupied 16 Tokyo signal stations, blocked station entrances and sang the Communist Internationale under a sea of Red banners.

At Least Two Injured

At least two persons were injured at the outset.

The new protests, capping a month of rioting outbursts, represented a last-ditch, Communist-led attempt to topple Premier Nobusuke Kishi's government and block the security pact.

The 3½-million-member Sohyo labor federation said more than five million persons would join the Zengakuren student federation and other leftists desiring to neutralize Japan in the East-West struggle.

Kishi was reported Tuesday to have told Secretary-General Shojiro Kawashima of his ruling Liberal-Democratic party that he will announce his intention to resign as soon as the treaty goes into force.

Japanese ratification of the treaty automatically became final at midnight Sunday.

The pact goes into force after U.S. Senate approval and exchange of ratification documents by the United States and Japan.

Kishi Standing Firm

The Cabinet decided to exchange the documents a day or two after the U.S. Senate acts, but the demonstrators hope to postpone it until after a general election. Kishi has shown no inclination to give in.

The demonstrations were aimed around the Diet building, Kishi's official residence, the offices of the Metropolitan Police Board,the U.S. Embassy, and the Foreign Ministry.

The railway strike will snarl transportation for more than a million Tokyo commuters. Tuesday night, Zengakuren students seized train crewmen at various railway stations to assure they would not show up for work Wednesday.

The government warned that civil servants participating in the demonstrations can expect severe punishments. Labor Minister Raizo Matsuno declared the general strike is "tantamount to rejection of the rule of democracy."

Khrushchev Downgrades Spy Flights

Contends Nothing Important To U.S. Defense Uncovered

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Tuesday downgraded the importance of U.S. spy-plane flights.

He said they missed photographing Russia's strategic rocket bases, discovered nothing of importance to U. S. defense and failed to uncover "powerful military means" the Soviet Union has developed.

In a speech at the Third Congress of the Romanian Communist party in Bucharest in which he pictured recent events in Korea, Japan and Turkey as a slap in the face at the United States, the Soviet leader also leaped personally into the current ideological battle with Peiping.

Western Newsmen Barred

The speech was reported by Tass, official Soviet news agency and broadcast by Moscow radio.

Western newsmen were reported by the Sofia radio to have been barred from the session. It was attended by the leading figures of European Communist countries.

The Red Chinese have been indirectly criticising Khrushchev's policies, by quoting Lenin that war is inevitable between communism and capitalism.

"We have no intention of yielding to provocation and departing from the general line of our foreign policy," Khrushchev said.

This, he said, is "a policy of coexistence, a policy of strengthening peace, relaxation of international tensions and liquidation of the cold war."

Policy Laid Down In 1956

This policy, he added, was directly related to the line laid down by the 20th Soviet Party Congress of 1956 that "war is not inevitable in our time."

This policy has been affirmed, he added, by the 1957 Declaration of Communist States. Red China was a signer of this declaration.

Khrushchev did not directly mention Red China, but said "those who do not understand this do not believe in the power of creative abilities of the working class, underestimate the might of the socialist camp and do not believe in the great attractiveness of socialism which has clearly demonstrated its advantages over capitalism."

At the end he read greetings from the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party.

President Will Give Radio-TV Report On Tour

Ike Expected Back In Capital This Weekend

HONOLULU (AP) — President Eisenhower soon after returning to Washington will make a nationwide television-radio report on his Far Eastern tour—including the blowup of his scheduled Tokyo visit.

Eisenhower, relaxing in sunny Hawaii, probably will return to the White House this weekend. His report to the nation probably will be next week.

A White House spokesman in announcing Eisenhower's plans at the same time reported Tuesday the President and his secretary of state both believe the visits to the Philippines, Korea and Formosa were "completely successful."

Eisenhower and Herter, talking over the long distance phone Tuesday, also agreed the President's visit to Okinawa was "very much worthwhile."

Some 1,500 pro-Japanese snake-dancing, screaming demonstrators greeted Eisenhower on Okinawa. But 150,000 other Okinawans cheered Eisenhower during a motorcade.

Ike Golfs With New Clubs

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told of Eisenhower's views and his plans.

Hagerty said Eisenhower and Herter did not discuss the furor that has resulted from the en forced cancellation of the President's goodwill visit to Tokyo.

Meanwhile, the President unwound from the tension of his Far East tour by golfing with a new set of clubs.

A sudden downpour caught him and his three golfing companions on the fairway of the third hole. Eisenhower and his party huddled under the protective branches of a clump of kewa trees, then resumed the game in a mist a few minutes later. A cool breeze swept the course as the President teed off at 8 a.m. in 70 degree weather.

A top aide reported Eisenhower, cheered by some 100,000 Hawaiians on his arrival Monday, was bouncing back from the weariness caused by his fast-moving 16,000 mile journey to the Philippines, Formosa, Korea and Okinawa.

Ike In Jolly Mood

Diplomatic officials with him meanwhile urgently scanned cabled confidential reports on worldwide repercussions to the blow-up of his scheduled visit to Tokyo.

Eisenhower was in a jolly mood as he teed off, even though he appeared to be having trouble adjusting to the new clubs. His initial drive, a low liner of some 175 yards, was the weakest of the foursome.

Before teeing off, Eisenhower joshingly told a reporter who was using a camera that he had better get a union card before he snapped a picture.

Playing with Eisenhower were his son, Lt. Col. John Eisenhower, Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, White House secretary, and James C. Hagerty, presidential news secretary.

Senate Ready To Ratify Pact With Japan

Herter Concedes U.S. "Misjudged" Rioting In Tokyo

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Tuesday night put off until Wednesday a vote on ratification of the new U.S.-Japanese security treaty.

At the request of majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), the Senate agreed to permit a half hour's additional debate on the treaty Wednesday.

The time limit on Wednesday's debate will go into effect after the Senate completes the customary opening routine transactions.

Although debate on the pact dragged on for about seven hours Tuesday, there was no evidence of concerted opposition.

Ratification appeared assured, although some senators expressed doubt about some provisions.

Senate ratification would leave only two steps to put the treaty into effect: President Eisenhower's signature on the ratification and an exchange of documents between Japan and the United States.

The pact has touched off day after day of left wing rioting in Tokyo — violence which forced cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit to Japan this week.

Herter Calls For Speed

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter made a plea for speedy ratification. He did so in appearing before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee to plug for his department's annual budget.

There Herter ran into a barrage of questions about how the United States got into the embarrassing situation created when the Japanese government was forced by the riots to cancel its invitation to Eisenhower to visit Japan this week.

Herter told the senators "we misjudged" how unrelenting the rioting would be. Nor, he said, was it expected that the mobs would be so large.

But Herter replied "no" when asked by senators if his day-to-day information was poor about the riots, which forced the Japanese government to cancel its invitation to President Eisenhower to visit Japan this week. Herter said perhaps the information was not properly evaluated.

Fulbright Opens Debate

Herter made a strong plea that the Senate act quickly to ratify the treaty. It would assure Japan of U.S. protection, under more favorable conditions for itself than at present, over the next 10 years and would permit U.S. bases to stay on Japanese soil. The agreement on the bases was a main target of the demonstrators.

Shortly after Herter told the senators the sooner they acted the better, Senate floor debate on the treaty was opened by Sen. J .William Fulbright (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Fulbright urged ratification, expressing a deep hope that Japan's democratic institutions "will suffer no permanent damage" for what he called obstructionist tactics of a fraction of its people.

"If a noisy minority can stifle major government policies and even scuttle visits from friendly chiefs-of-state the principle of responsible majority rule is placed in serious doubt," he said.

The treaty is expected to be flown to Eisenhower, who is resting in Hawaii, for his signature. The Japanese Diet ratified the pact Sunday.

W.Va. Robbery Probers Lack Positive Clues

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — A high-level police conference was held Tuesday to coordinate activities of three law enforcement agencies for continued investigation of the $500,000 Department of Motor Vehicles robbery.

State Police Supt. Hazen H. Fair revealed details of the meeting.

Fair announced appointment of Lt. E.L. Roush, second in command of State Police Co. B at nearby South Charleston to head up the investigation.

Roush will coordinate activities of the State Police, Charleston City Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation as the search continues for the parties who picked their way into the department's vault.

They made off with an estimated $300,000 in cash and a lesser amount in checks. Motor Vehicles Commissioner J. Marshall Holcomb said the total loss might reach $500,000. Only $300,000 of it was covered by insurance.

Department auditors sifted through records Monday and Tuesday trying to determine the exact loss. Holcomb said it might be another 24 to 48 hours before a final total could be determined.

Fair said Roush would be given an office in the statehouse and information concerning the investigation would be released from this point.

Fair admitted there were no positive clues for police to follow.

The robbery was discovered by a janitor early Monday morning. Holcomb said that was some six hours after the last person was in the department working Sunday night. Late hours are not unusual for department personnel at this time of the year — the annual rush to get motor vehicle license plates in West Virginia.

Government Should Help U.S. Economic Growth, Nixon Says

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon Tuesday called for government support of this nation's growth, and predicted that economically the Soviet Union will continue to lag behind the United States.

"We must not hesitate," Nixon said, "to resort to government action where it provides the best road to progress.'

But Nixon said the major part of the job must still be done by private economy. And he hit out at Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, and at critics of the administration, who say the Soviets are building up their economy much faster than we are.

Nixon said the critics are playing a game of "growthmanship,' and that they are interested in arbitrarily manipulating the economy.

And as for Khrushchev's' boasts that the Soviet Union will pass this country economically in seven to 10 years: "By any projection that can be applied, there is no possibility that the Soviet economy will overtake our own at any time in this century,' Nixon said.

Theoretically, Nixon was here for what was labelled a nonpolitical economic talk to the 40th annual convention of the national Junior Chamber of Commerce.

But his speech obviously was an answer to Democratic presidential candidates—and to Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York—who have been pointing out that the Soviets are growing at the rate of eight per cent a year. This country has varied between three and four per cent.

At a news conference late Tuesday, Nixon said:

"I have been encouraged by the trip."

And he had a final blow for those who have hoped that some way, somehow, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York could win the GOP presidential nomination away from Nixon.

"The Republican party," Nixon said, "is the most unified since 1956 when President Eisenhower was the unifying force."

He said throughout his trip he found all factions of the party working smoothly together.

Leaders Plan Friday Talk On Eichmann Case

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—An Israeli spokesman said Tuesday night Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion will meet here Friday with Argentine President Arturo Frondizi to discuss the Adolf Eichmann case, the Belgian radio reported.

At separate news conferences 300 miles apart earlier, both Ben-Gurion and Frondizi said a meeting might be a good idea.

But diplomatic sources close to Frondizi, who is in Bern, Switzerland, said Argentina still will press its case against Israel in the United Nations Security Council. Frondizi is reported to have made this decision after a telephone talk with Mario Amadeo, Argentina's U.N. ambassador.

Argentina accuses Israel of violating Argentine sovereignty in spiriting Eichmann out of the country to Israel, where the former Gestapo official faces trial on charges of helping organize the Nazi extermination of six million Jews. He had been living in Argentina under a false name for years.

Israel, Ben-Gurion noted, still has the death penalty for Nazi war criminals.

Israel has been criticized for accepting Eichmann from volunteer Israeli commandos, as they have been officially called. There has also been some question of whether Israel has the right to try Eichmann.

Growing angry and reddening under his fluffy white hair, Ben-Gurion said: "We did not investigate what the people who brought us Eichmann did before they put him in the hands of the authorities in Israel."

"There may have been a breach of law by the security people who handled Eichmann, but we are dealing with a man who murdered six million Jews and was bent on exterminating them all. It is a question of historical justice," Ben-Gurion said.

Deadly Anti-Sub Missile System Unveiled By Navy

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The Navy Tuesday unveiled to the press what it called its newest and deadliest anti-submarine missile system.

Rear Adm. P. D. Stroop, chief of the Bureau of Naval Weapons, said it represents "a significant advance in the Navy's anti-submarine warfare program."

ASROC is capable of delivering either an acoustic homing torpedo or a depth charge to an enemy submarine while the launching ship is thousands of yards away.

The missile was fired from the USS Norfolk at three ranges in an exercise to show the versatility and effectiveness of the new weapon.

The rocket was fired from the stern deck of the ship. Though exact figures on the range and speed of ASROC were not released, the deadly purpose was apparent.

Using the USS Skate, a nuclear sub, as a target, ASROC was shot at ranges estimated from three to six miles. One was shot at short range, one of medium range and a salvo of two shots at long range. Visually they appeared right on target.

Stans Protests Congressional Spending Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's budget man protested Tuesday that Congressional spending programs threaten to shatter "the hopes of millions of taxpayers that in due time there might be tax reduction."

The budget director, Maurice H. Stans, also said these programs had placed Eisenhower's prospective budget surplus of four billion dollars for the fiscal year beginning July 1 in "acute jeopardy.'

The budget surplus had been forecast on the basis of Congress holding spending to Eisenhower-recommended levels and the enactment of higher postal charges and gasoline taxes.

Stans stated his protest in a letter to Rep. John Taber of New York, the top Republican on the House Ways and Means Committee. Taber had asked for information on the probable consequences of pending legislation.

Stans criticized the following as budget-busting items:

The proposed pay boost for federal workers, extra defense and welfare legislation, a House decision to give tax deductions to self-employed for pension payments, and the failure of Congress to enact postal rate increases.

Thousands Flee South Chile Floods

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Overflowing rivers fed by torrential rain poured over quake-stricken southern Chile Tuesday, flooding a dozen communities and forcing evacuation of people by thousands.

Many fleeing to higher ground had been living in makeshift shelters hurriedly thrown up after their homes were destroyed by the May earthquakes.

Major Congo Battle Won By Lumumba

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP)—Patrice Lumumba, a goateed nationalist spellbinder, won a major battle Tuesday in the struggle for political control of the Congo and its new government.

With independence from Belgium only nine days away, Lumumba's candidate was elected speaker of the Chamber of Deputies. The new speaker, Joseph Kasongo, promptly demanded that Lumumba be summoned to form the Congo's first native Cabinet.

In Brussels the Belgian Radio reported Lumumba was appointed premier-designate. It said Belgium's administration in the Congo called on Lumumba to form a government after his victory in the chamber of deputies.

EAL Pilots End Revolt Against Rules Of FAA

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Eastern Air Lines pilots flocked back to work Tuesday, ending at least temporarily their court-condemned rebellion against regulations of the Federal Aviation Agency.

They agreed to return to the cockpits only after their union held out the promise of legal curbs on "the dictatorial powers of the FAA administrator,"' Elwood Quesada.

In New York, Malcolm A. MacIntyre, president of Eastern, said he expects all the airlines services will be back in operation within 24 hours.

The Air Line Pilots Assn. did not authorize the 10-day-old work stoppage but told the pilots it would back them in a "legal" strike if it cannot put an end to FAA "abuses."

On the surface in the bitter dispute was the FAA's demand that its inspectors ride in the third pilot's seat on occasional check flights.

The inspector's presence in this seat just behind the pilot and co-pilot would interfere with safe operation, the strikers declared.

Behind this quarrel was the pilots' concern with job security. They worked hard to get a third pilot in the big new jets, and they have been incensed by an FAA order grounding pilots at the age of 60.

Pan American World Airways, which also had a third seat dispute, reported in New York that it expected normal flight operations to be restored by Wednesday.

Pan American said 68 of 149 pilots who had reported sick since Friday had notified they were ready to fly again.

Eruption Shifts Peak

MOSCOW (AP)—A 48-hour eruption of the Durandag mud volcano, one of several volcanos in the Alyatsk range of Azerbaijan, has shifted part of the Durandag mountain peak 10 or 12 yards, the Soviet news agency Tass reported Tuesday. The flow of gas and mud has now subsided. The volcano lies about 35 miles from Baku, Azerbaijans capital.

Cheryl Returned To Girls' Institution

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) —A Juvenile Court referee Tuesday ordered the return of Cheryl Crane, Lana Turner's 16-year-old daughter, to a school for wayward girls from which she has twice escaped.

The ruling was made by Juvenile Court referee Harry Simons who presided in the place of Judge Allen T. Lynch. Lynch is ill. But the decision — which will be officially approved by Lynch next Tuesday — went into immediate effect as Cheryl was taken straight from the hearing to the El Retiro minimum security school for girls.

Cheryl has been in custody at Juvenile Hall for three weeks.

Pauling Defies Probers By Withholding Names

WASHINGTON (AP) — Risking contempt of Congress action, Nobel Prize winner Linus Pauling Tuesday defied Senate investigators. He refused to name other scientists who helped him gather signatures for petitions opposing nuclear weapons tests.

"No matter what assurances the subcommittee might give me, I am convinced these names would be used for reprisals (against) idealistic, high minded workers for peace," Dr. Pauling declared.

The 59-year-old California Institute of Technology chemist did not invoke the Fifth Amendment. Instead, he told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee he took his stand "as a matter of conscience, as a matter of morality, as a matter of justice."

Acting Chairman Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn)—who had assured Pauling the subcommittee was not trying to "torment you, to harass you"—ordered Pauling to produce the names at a hearing on Aug. 9.

But the lean, tall scientist told newsmen his decision is irrevocable; that no threat of prosecution for contempt would budget him.

Pauling appeared under subpoena for questioning about what he might know of any Communist propaganda against nuclear testing.

The Caltech chemist, who won the Nobel Prize in 1954 and gained world renown, is a drumbeater against such testing, which he describes as building the danger of a catastrophic nuclear war. He has denied knowing anything about Communist activities, and said he signed noncommunist affidavits many times.

Pennsylvania Woman Is Grandma America

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Eugene Carothers, 73, of Canonsburg, Pa., Tuesday was declared winner of the Grandma America contest.

Runnerup was Mrs. Elizabeth M. Conway, 63, of Levittown, N.Y.

Mrs. Carothers, a member of the editorial staff of the Canonsburg Daily Note, won $5,000 in prizes, including a trip to Brazil.

Twenty grandmothers from across the country competed for the title. They were chosen for the finals on the basis of civic activities, domestic achievement and personality.

Khrushchev Downgrades Spy Flights

Contends Nothing Important To U.S. Defense Uncovered

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Tuesday downgraded the importance of U.S. spy-plane flights.

He said they missed photographing Russia's strategic rocket bases, discovered nothing of importance to U. S. defense and failed to uncover "powerful military means" the Soviet Union has developed.

In a speech at the Third Congress of the Romanian Communist party in Bucharest in which he pictured recent events in Korea, Japan and Turkey as a slap in the face at the United States, the Soviet leader also leaped personally into the current ideological battle with Peiping.

Western Newsmen Barred

The speech was reported by Tass, official Soviet news agency and broadcast by Moscow radio.

Western newsmen were reported by the Sofia radio to have been barred from the session. It was attended by the leading figures of European Communist countries.

The Red Chinese have been indirectly criticising Khrushchev's policies, by quoting Lenin that war is inevitable between communism and capitalism.

"We have no intention of yielding to provocation and departing from the general line of our foreign policy," Khrushchev said.

This, he said, is "a policy of coexistence, a policy of strengthening peace, relaxation of international tensions and liquidation of the cold war."

Policy Laid Down In 1956

This policy, he added, was directly related to the line laid down by the 20th Soviet Party Congress of 1956 that "war is not inevitable in our time."

This policy has been affirmed, he added, by the 1957 Declaration of Communist States. Red China was a signer of this declaration.

Khrushchev did not directly mention Red China, but said "those who do not understand this do not believe in the power of creative abilities of the working class, underestimate the might of the socialist camp and do not believe in the great attractiveness of socialism which has clearly demonstrated its advantages over capitalism."

At the end he read greetings from the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party.

Deadly Anti-Sub Missile System Unveiled By Navy

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The Navy Tuesday unveiled to the press what it called its newest and deadliest anti-submarine missile system.

Rear Adm. P. D. Stroop, chief of the Bureau of Naval Weapons, said it represents "a significant advance in the Navy's anti-submarine warfare program."

ASROC is capable of delivering either an acoustic homing torpedo or a depth charge to an enemy submarine while the launching ship is thousands of yards away.

The missile was fired from the USS Norfolk at three ranges in an exercise to show the versatility and effectiveness of the new weapon.

The rocket was fired from the stern deck of the ship. Though exact figures on the range and speed of ASROC were not released, the deadly purpose was apparent.

Using the USS Skate, a nuclear sub, as a target, ASROC was shot at ranges estimated from three to six miles. One was shot at short range, one of medium range and a salvo of two shots at long range. Visually they appeared right on target.

Cheryl Returned To Girls' Institution

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) —A Juvenile Court referee Tuesday ordered the return of Cheryl Crane, Lana Turner's 16-year-old daughter, to a school for wayward girls from which she has twice escaped.

The ruling was made by Juvenile Court referee Harry Simons who presided in the place of Judge Allen T. Lynch. Lynch is ill. But the decision — which will be officially approved by Lynch next Tuesday — went into immediate effect as Cheryl was taken straight from the hearing to the El Retiro minimum security school for girls.

Cheryl has been in custody at Juvenile Hall for three weeks.

President Will Give Radio-TV Report On Tour

BALKS — Dr. Linus Pauling, world famed scientist, is shown testifying yesterday before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. Ike Expected Back In Capital This Weekend

HONOLULU (AP) — President Eisenhower soon after returning to Washington will make a nationwide television-radio report on his Far Eastern tour—including the blowup of his scheduled Tokyo visit.

Eisenhower, relaxing in sunny Hawaii, probably will return to the White House this weekend. His report to the nation probably will be next week.

A White House spokesman in announcing Eisenhower's plans at the same time reported Tuesday the President and his secretary of state both believe the visits to the Philippines, Korea and Formosa were "completely successful."

Eisenhower and Herter, talking over the long distance phone Tuesday, also agreed the President's visit to Okinawa was "very much worthwhile."

Some 1,500 pro-Japanese snake-dancing, screaming demonstrators greeted Eisenhower on Okinawa. But 150,000 other Okinawans cheered Eisenhower during a motorcade.

Ike Golfs With New Clubs

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told of Eisenhower's views and his plans.

Hagerty said Eisenhower and Herter did not discuss the furor that has resulted from the enforced cancellation of the President's goodwill visit to Tokyo.

Meanwhile, the President unwound from the tension of his Far East tour by golfing with a new set of clubs.

A sudden downpour caught him and his three golfing companions on the fairway of the third hole. Eisenhower and his party huddled under the protective branches of a clump of kewa trees, then resumed the game in a mist a few minutes later. A cool breeze swept the course as the President teed off at 8 a.m. in 70 degree weather.

A top aide reported Eisenhower, cheered by some 100,000 Hawaiians on his arrival Monday, was bouncing back from the weariness caused by his fast-moving 16,000 mile journey to the Philippines, Formosa, Korea and Okinawa.

Ike In Jolly Mood

Diplomatic officials with him meanwhile urgently scanned cabled confidential reports on worldwide repercussions to the blow-up of his scheduled visit to Tokyo.

Eisenhower was in a jolly mood as he teed off, even though he appeared to be having trouble adjusting to the new clubs. His initial drive, a low liner of some 175 yards, was the weakest of the foursome.

Before teeing off, Eisenhower joshingly told a reporter who was using a camera that he had better get a union card before he snapped a picture.

Playing with Eisenhower were his son, Lt. Col. John Eisenhower, Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, White House secretary, and James C. Hagerty, presidential news secretary.

Stans Protests Congressional Spending Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's budget man protested Tuesday that Congressional spending programs threaten to shatter "the hopes of millions of taxpayers that in due time there might be tax reduction."

The budget director, Maurice H. Stans, also said these programs had placed Eisenhower's prospective budget surplus of four billion dollars for the fiscal year beginning July 1 in "acute jeopardy."

The budget surplus had been forecast on the basis of Congress holding spending to Eisenhower-recommended levels and the enactment of higher postal charges and gasoline taxes.

Stans stated his protest in a letter to Rep. John Taber of New York, the top Republican on the House Ways and Means Committee. Taber had asked for information on the probable consequences of pending legislation.

Stans criticized the following as budget-busting items:

The proposed pay boost for federal workers, extra defense and welfare legislation, a House decision to give tax deductions to self-employed for pension payments, and the failure of Congress to enact postal rate increases.

Thousands Flee South Chile Floods

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Overflowing rivers fed by torrential rain poured over quake-stricken southern Chile Tuesday, flooding a dozen communities and forcing evacuation of people by thousands.

Many fleeing to higher ground had been living in makeshift shelters hurriedly thrown up after their homes were destroyed by the May earthquakes.

Mamie, Feeling Fine, Leaves Walter Reed

Associate Press Secretary Mrs. Anne Wheaton announced that the First Lady had been released from the hospital and was "feeling fine."

Senate Ready To Ratify Pact With Japan

Herter Concedes U.S. "Misjudged" Rioting In Tokyo

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Tuesday night put off until Wednesday a vote on ratification of the new U.S.-Japanese security treaty.

At the request of majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), the Senate agreed to permit a half hour's additional debate on the treaty Wednesday.

The time limit on Wednesday's debate will go into effect after the Senate completes the customary opening routine transactions.

Although debate on the pact dragged on for about seven hours Tuesday, there was no evidence of concerted opposition.

Ratification appeared assured, although some senators expressed doubt about some provisions.

Senate ratification would leave only two steps to put the treaty into effect: President Eisenhower's signature on the ratification and an exchange of documents between Japan and the United States.

The pact has touched off day after day of left wing rioting in Tokyo — violence which forced cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit to Japan this week.

Herter Calls For Speed

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter made a plea for speedy ratification. He did so in appearing before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee to plug for his department's annual budget.

There Herter ran into a barrage of questions about how the United States got into the embarrassing situation created when the Japanese government was forced by the riots to cancel its invitation to Eisenhower to visit Japan this week.

Herter told the senators "we misjudged" how unrelenting the rioting would be. Nor, he said, was it expected that the mobs would be so large.

But Herter replied "no" when asked by senators if his day-to-day information was poor about the riots, which forced the Japanese government to cancel its invitation to President Eisenhower to visit Japan this week. Herter said perhaps the information was not properly evaluated.

Fulbright Opens Debate

Herter made a strong plea that the Senate act quickly to ratify the treaty. It would assure Japan of U.S. protection, under more favorable conditions for itself than at present, over the next 10 years and would permit U.S. bases to stay on Japanese soil. The agreement on the bases was a main target of the demonstrators.

Shortly after Herter told the senators the sooner they acted the better, Senate floor debate on the treaty was opened by Sen. J .William Fulbright (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Fulbright urged ratification, expressing a deep hope that Japan's democratic institutions "will suffer no permanent damage" for what he called obstructionist tactics of a fraction of its people.

"If a noisy minority can stifle major government policies and even scuttle visits from friendly chiefs-of-state the principle of responsible majority rule is placed in serious doubt," he said.

The treaty is expected to be flown to Eisenhower, who is resting in Hawaii, for his signature. The Japanese Diet ratified the pact Sunday.

Pennsylvania Woman Is Grandma America

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Eugene Carothers, 73, of Canonsburg, Pa., Tuesday was declared winner of the Grandma America contest.

Runnerup was Mrs. Elizabeth M. Conway, 63, of Levittown, N.Y.

Mrs. Carothers, a member of the editorial staff of the Canonsburg Daily Note, won $5,000 in prizes, including a trip to Brazil.

Twenty grandmothers from across the country competed for the title. They were chosen for the finals on the basis of civic activities, domestic achievement and personality.

Replacement Envoy

OTTAWA (AP)—A young diplomat took over Tuesday as Cuba's charge d'affaires in Canada. He is Manuel Stolik, 23, who arrived Monday from Havana.

Luis A. Baralt Mederos, 32, resigned last week as Cuba's ambassador and sought political asylum in Canada because of policy disagreements with Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government.

EAL Pilots End Revolt Against Rules Of FAA

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Eastern Air Lines pilots flocked back to work Tuesday, ending at least temporarily their court-condemned rebellion against regulations of the Federal Aviation Agency.

They agreed to return to the cockpits only after their union held out the promise of legal curbs on "the dictatorial powers of the FAA administrator,'" Elwood Quesada.

In New York, Malcolm A. MacIntyre, president of Eastern, said he expects all the airlines services will be back in operation within 24 hours.

The Air Line Pilots Assn. did not authorize the 10-day-old work stoppage but told the pilots it would back them in a "legal" strike if it cannot put an end to FAA "abuses."

On the surface in the bitter dispute was the FAA's demand that its inspectors ride in the third pilot's seat on occasional check flights.

The inspector's presence in this seat just behind the pilot and co-pilot would interfere with safe operation, the strikers declared.

Behind this quarrel was the pilots' concern with job security. They worked hard to get a third pilot in the big new jets, and they have been incensed by an FAA order grounding pilots at the age of 60.

Pan American World Airways, which also had a third seat dispute, reported in New York that it expected normal flight operations to be restored by Wednesday.

Pan American said 68 of 149 pilots who had reported sick since Friday had notified they were ready to fly again.

Pauling Defies Probers By Withholding Names

WASHINGTON (AP) — Risking contempt of Congress action, Nobel Prize winner Linus Pauling Tuesday defied Senate investigators. He refused to name other scientists who helped him gather signatures for petitions opposing nuclear weapons tests.

"No matter what assurances the subcommittee might give me, I am convinced these names would be used for reprisals (against) idealistic, high minded workers for peace," Dr. Pauling declared.

The 59-year-old California Institute of Technology chemist did not invoke the Fifth Amendment. Instead, he told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee he took his stand "as a matter of conscience, as a matter of morality, as a matter of justice."

Acting Chairman Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn)—who had assured Pauling the subcommittee was not trying to "torment you, to harass you"—ordered Pauling to produce the names at a hearing on Aug. 9.

But the lean, tall scientist told newsmen his decision is irrevocable; that no threat of prosecution for contempt would budget him.

Pauling appeared under subpoena for questioning about what he might know of any Communist propaganda against nuclear testing.

The Caltech chemist, who won the Nobel Prize in 1954 and gained world renown, is a drumbeater against such testing, which he describes as building the danger of a catastrophic nuclear war. He has denied knowing anything about Communist activities, and said he signed noncommunist affidavits many times.

Out-Of-Staters Seeking Admission To U. Of Md. In '61 Must Take Exams

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Effective September, 1961, all out-of-state students seeking admission to the University of Maryland will be required to take entrance examinations.

The Board of Regents approved the policy Tuesday on recommendation of University President Wilson H. Elkins.

It will mark the first time the university has required such tests reguardless of their high school grades.

At present students with high school averages below C must take entrance tests. The university admits Maryland students regardless of their present marks and high school records if their parents insist.

Dr. Elkins has advocated such a policy as part of his long-range plan to raise the university's academic standards.

The board also proposed an $8,230,100 construction program for its campuses at College Park, Baltimore and Princess Anne for the fiscal year beginning June 1, 1961.

The board named Miss Helen E. Clarke, assistant dean of students at the University of California, Berkeley, to dean of women to succeed Miss Adele H. Stemps, who will retire in September after holding the office since 1924.

Dr. R. Lee Horbank, whose position of dean of the faculty was abolished, was named to the newly-created post of vice president for academic affairs.

House Builder Skips, Leaving $1½ Million Debt

BALTIMORE (AP) — The story of a Montgomery County house builder, whose whereabouts are a mystery and who left behind debts of at least 1½ million dollars, was unfolded Tuesday in Federal Court.

Daniel M. Ostrow, formerly of Silver Spring, was the big debtor. The court room of Judge Roszel Thomsen was crowded with suppliers to whom he owed money and with buyers of houses that Ostrow built in a development known as Forest Knolls.

Ostrow abandoned the project earlier this year. Prospective purchasers of 19 houses were left without a legal title. Another 20 houses were unfinished. Four more were finished but unsold.

They were the last of a series of five developments on 100 acres at Forest Knolls by Ostrow, who built a total of about 400 houses.

"Ostrow has disappeared or at least we have been unable to find anyone who will admit they know where he is," said J. Martin McDonough, a lawyer.

"He left no office, no books, no records, no office personnel."

McDonough is counsel to Clyde E. Bourke who was appointed trustee after Ostrow was declared bankrupt on April 22. Tuesday's hearing was to ask the creditors if they had any objections to Bourke. There was none and Judge Thomsen continued Bourke in the post.

McDonough informed the court it is going to be a long, tedious time before Bourke will be ready to submit any recommendations for disposing of available assets of Ostrow so creditors can be paid.

He said it will be necessary to consider each home purchase agreement separately before deciding whether any or all of them should be accepted or rejected.

In the meanwhile, Bourke and some of the creditors will confer on the best way to finish the 20 houses so they may be offered for sale.

McDonough estimated they will be worth $392,050. The 23 finished houses are valued at $489,275.

Prisoner Cracks Safe, Then Flees Jail With $208

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Eugene R. Miller escaped from the jail here Monday night after taking $208 of his fellow prisoners money from the sheriff's safe.

Sheriff C. E. Dessem said the money was taken from prisoners for safekeeping at the time they were booked. He said the safe was locked but that Miller was known to have a way with such things.

Miller, 30, was serving a six months sentence for theft of household goods from his sister's home. He was a kitchen trusty at the jail and apparently just walked away with the money.

River Dragged For Man's Body

By The Associated Press

Dragging operations were underway in the Susquehanna River Tuesday for the body of a Harford County man missing and presumed drowned.

Meanwhile, the body of a Pennsylvania girl who drowned Saturday was recovered in the Northeast River and an autopsy report was made on a FBI agent who drowned Friday in Dorchester County.

The latest victim, George Creggar, 49, of Havre de Grace, fell from a 14-foot outboard motorboat Monday night when it hit a rock and overturned in about 30 feet of water. The accident happened about 50 yards off shore at Schweers Landing near Snake Island, about two miles south of Darlington.

The body of Miss Sonja Achey, 20, of Essington, Pa. was recovered Monday near where she drowned while sailing at Elk Neck State Park in Cecil County.

At Cambridge, State Police said an autopsy indicated that Leon Rumans, 48, FBI agent from Silver Spring, struck his head when he fell into the water and drowned. The accident happened on Transquaking River when a boat in which he and another agent were fishing upset after apparently hitting a rock.

Rains Retard Field Work On Md. Farms

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Rains slowed field work on most Maryland and Delaware farms early last week, but good progress was made under clearing skies toward the end of the week.

Crop reporters for the University of Maryland Extension Service said Tuesday that the combining of barley has moved into high gear. Only about one-third of the crop had been cut by June 18, compared with about 70 per cent on the same date last year.

A few fields have been opened west of the bay, but for the most part wet soils and high moisture content of small grains prevented harvest. Wheat harvest is expected to get underway this week.

Hay making has been delayed in many areas, but most first cuttings of alfalfa have been put up and about 70 per cent of the clover mixtures have been cut.

Scholarship Award Board Plan Revised

BALTIMORE (AP)—The makeup of a proposed board to administer the state's award of college scholarships was revised Tuesday to give the public rather than education experts a majority of representatives.

The public would have four members and three would represent high schools and colleges. It was the reverse in a bill introduced at the 1960 session of the Legislature.

The change was made by a Legislative Council committee at the urging of Sen. Samuel Barrick (D-Frederick). He complained about the board being controlled by the same persons whose scholarships would be supervised.

The committee headed by Del. Blair Lee (D-Montgomery) also approved a clause urging colleges to show their catalogue tuition charges approximately the same as actual.

Sen. Edward O. Weant (D-Carroll) and others opined that some colleges have been "making a racket" of publishing unrealistic charges in order to obtain more state funds.

The Lee committee is attempting for the second time to standardize the state scholarship awards.

Fugitive Nabbed In West Virginia

BLUEFIELD, W.Va. (AP)—The FBI Tuesday reported the capture of a Maryland fugitive charged with assaulting and seriously wounding a policeman who was trying to arrest him June 11, at Laurel, Md.

Leonard Summers Kenney, 24, was in jail at Beckley in lieu of $10,000 bond after a hearing in Bluefield before U.S.Commissioner Howard M. Jarrett.

Kenney was taken into custody Monday at Rainelle, W. Va. by State Police and FBI officers on a federal warrant charging unlawful flight across a state line to avoid prosecution. The federal warrant was issued at Upper Marlboro, Md.

Kenney is charged at Laurel with striking Patrolman Guy Harris when Harris stopped him on suspicion that he was driving under the influence of liquor.

Trucker Sentenced For Assaulting Girl

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — A 26-year-old Hagerstown truck driver was sentenced to 10 years in the Maryland Penitentiary Tuesday after he was convicted of assault with intent to rape a 13-year-old baby-sitter.

Washington County Circuit Judge D. K. McLaughlin pronounced sentence on John Henry White and told him he was fortunate he was not before the court on a rape conviction.

C&EI Head Wants Line Included In Merger

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad's president wants his 862-mile line included in the proposed Chesapeake and Ohio-Baltimore & Ohio merger.

He also expressed fears for the future of the little lines if the merger fever spreads. Receiverships could undermine the entire industry and possibly the national economy, he said.

The president, David O. Mathews, announced Tuesday he will propose that his railroad ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to include the C. & E. I. in any merger that might result from the pending application of the C. and O. to exchange its stock for B. & O. shares.

His proposal will be presented to a special meeting of the C. & E. I. directors Friday.

Out-Of-Staters Seeking Admission To U. Of Md. In '61 Must Take Exams

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Effective September, 1961, all out-of-state students seeking admission to the University of Maryland will be required to take entrance examinations.

The Board of Regents approved the policy Tuesday on recommendation of University President Wilson H. Elkins.

It will mark the first time the university has required such tests reguardless of their high school grades.

At present students with high school averages below C must take entrance tests. The university admits Maryland students regardless of their present marks and high school records if their parents insist.

Dr. Elkins has advocated such a policy as part of his long-range plan to raise the university's academic standards.

The board also proposed an $8,230,100 construction program for its campuses at College Park, Baltimore and Princess Anne for the fiscal year beginning June 1, 1961.

The board named Miss Helen E. Clarke, assistant dean of students at the University of California, Berkeley, to dean of women to succeed Miss Adele H. Stemps, who will retire in September after holding the office since 1924.

Dr. R. Lee Horbank, whose position of dean of the faculty was abolished, was named to the newly-created post of vice president for academic affairs.

House Builder Skips, Leaving $1½ Million Debt

BALTIMORE (AP) — The story of a Montgomery County house builder, whose whereabouts are a mystery and who left behind debts of at least 1½ million dollars, was unfolded Tuesday in Federal Court.

Daniel M. Ostrow, formerly of Silver Spring, was the big debtor. The court room of Judge Roszel Thomsen was crowded with suppliers to whom he owed money and with buyers of houses that Ostrow built in a development known as Forest Knolls.

Ostrow abandoned the project earlier this year. Prospective purchasers of 19 houses were left without a legal title. Another 20 houses were unfinished. Four more were finished but unsold.

They were the last of a series of five developments on 100 acres at Forest Knolls by Ostrow, who built a total of about 400 houses.

"Ostrow has disappeared or at least we have been unable to find anyone who will admit they know where he is," said J. Martin McDonough, a lawyer.

"He left no office, no books, no records, no office personnel."

McDonough is counsel to Clyde E. Bourke who was appointed trustee after Ostrow was declared bankrupt on April 22. Tuesday's hearing was to ask the creditors if they had any objections to Bourke. There was none and Judge Thomsen continued Bourke in the post.

McDonough informed the court it is going to be a long, tedious time before Bourke will be ready to submit any recommendations for disposing of available assets of Ostrow so creditors can be paid.

He said it will be necessary to consider each home purchase agreement separately before deciding whether any or all of them should be accepted or rejected.

In the meanwhile, Bourke and some of the creditors will confer on the best way to finish the 20 houses so they may be offered for sale.

McDonough estimated they will be worth $392,050. The 23 finished houses are valued at $489,275.

Prisoner Cracks Safe, Then Flees Jail With $208

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Eugene R. Miller escaped from the jail here Monday night after taking $208 of his fellow prisoners money from the sheriff's safe.

Sheriff C. E. Dessem said the money was taken from prisoners for safekeeping at the time they were booked. He said the safe was locked but that Miller was known to have a way with such things.

Miller, 30, was serving a six months sentence for theft of household goods from his sister's home. He was a kitchen trusty at the jail and apparently just walked away with the money.

River Dragged For Man's Body

By The Associated Press

Dragging operations were underway in the Susquehanna River Tuesday for the body of a Harford County man missing and presumed drowned.

Meanwhile, the body of a Pennsylvania girl who drowned Saturday was recovered in the Northeast River and an autopsy report was made on a FBI agent who drowned Friday in Dorchester County.

The latest victim, George Creggar, 49, of Havre de Grace, fell from a 14-foot outboard motorboat Monday night when it hit a rock and overturned in about 30 feet of water. The accident happened about 50 yards off shore at Schweers Landing near Snake Island, about two miles south of Darlington.

The body of Miss Sonja Achey, 20, of Essington, Pa. was recovered Monday near where she drowned while sailing at Elk Neck State Park in Cecil County.

At Cambridge, State Police said an autopsy indicated that Leon Rumans, 48, FBI agent from Silver Spring, struck his head when he fell into the water and drowned. The accident happened on Transquaking River when a boat in which he and another agent were fishing upset after apparently hitting a rock.

Rains Retard Field Work On Md. Farms

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Rains slowed field work on most Maryland and Delaware farms early last week, but good progress was made under clearing skies toward the end of the week.

Crop reporters for the University of Maryland Extension Service said Tuesday that the combining of barley has moved into high gear. Only about one-third of the crop had been cut by June 18, compared with about 70 per cent on the same date last year.

A few fields have been opened west of the bay, but for the most part wet soils and high moisture content of small grains prevented harvest. Wheat harvest is expected to get underway this week.

Hay making has been delayed in many areas, but most first cuttings of alfalfa have been put up and about 70 per cent of the clover mixtures have been cut.

Fugitive Nabbed In West Virginia

BLUEFIELD, W.Va. (AP)—The FBI Tuesday reported the capture of a Maryland fugitive charged with assaulting and seriously wounding a policeman who was trying to arrest him June 11, at Laurel, Md.

Leonard Summers Kenney, 24, was in jail at Beckley in lieu of $10,000 bond after a hearing in Bluefield before U.S.Commissioner Howard M. Jarrett.

Kenney was taken into custody Monday at Rainelle, W. Va. by State Police and FBI officers on a federal warrant charging unlawful flight across a state line to avoid prosecution. The federal warrant was issued at Upper Marlboro, Md.

Kenney is charged at Laurel with striking Patrolman Guy Harris when Harris stopped him on suspicion that he was driving under the influence of liquor.

Trucker Sentenced For Assaulting Girl

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — A 26-year-old Hagerstown truck driver was sentenced to 10 years in the Maryland Penitentiary Tuesday after he was convicted of assault with intent to rape a 13-year-old baby-sitter.

Washington County Circuit Judge D. K. McLaughlin pronounced sentence on John Henry White and told him he was fortunate he was not before the court on a rape conviction.

Scholarship Award Board Plan Revised

BALTIMORE (AP)—The make-up of a proposed board to administer the state's award of college scholarships was revised Tuesday to give the public rather than education experts a majority of representatives.

The public would have four members and three would represent high schools and colleges. It was the reverse in a bill introduced at the 1960 session of the Legislature.

The change was made by a Legislative Council committee at the urging of Sen. Samuel Barrick (D-Frederick). He complained about the board being controlled by the same persons whose scholarships would be supervised.

The committee headed by Del. Blair Lee (D-Montgomery) also approved a clause urging colleges to show their catalogue tuition charges approximately the same as actual.

Sen. Edward O. Weant (D-Carroll) and others opined that some colleges have been "making a racket" of publishing unrealistic charges in order to obtain more state funds.

The Lee committee is attempting for the second time to standardize the state scholarship awards.

C&EI Head Wants Line Included In Merger

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad's president wants his 862-mile line included in the proposed Chesapeake and Ohio-Baltimore & Ohio merger.

He also expressed fears for the future of the little lines if the merger fever spreads. Receiverships could undermine the entire industry and possibly the national economy, he said.

The president, David O. Mathews, announced Tuesday he will propose that his railroad ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to include the C. & E. I. in any merger that might result from the pending application of the C. and O. to exchange its stock for B. & O. shares.

His proposal will be presented to a special meeting of the C. & E. I. directors Friday.

Two Plead Innocent In Theft Case

Two men charged with breaking and entering and theft of merchandise from the Potomac Candy Company at Westernport on June 7 were arraigned in Circuit Court yesterday by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley.

After the men entered not guilty pleas the court named Fred Anderson and Jack I. Mullen as defense attorneys for the two men, Thomas H. Greene, 32, of Keyser, and William W. Wilson, 40, of Bloomington. Trial will be held next Tuesday before Judge Fraley here.

Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason has filed a criminal information in the case.

The information specified that 38 cartons of cigarets valued at $81.25; a box of cigars valued at $3.20 and a box of candy valued at 85 cents were taken from the company.

Authorities said the tenants who live on the second floor of the premises detected two men loitering about the building and called police.

Wilson was reported to have jumped on a Western Maryland Railway Company freight train but was later nabbed in Keyser and voluntarily returned to Maryland for prosecution.

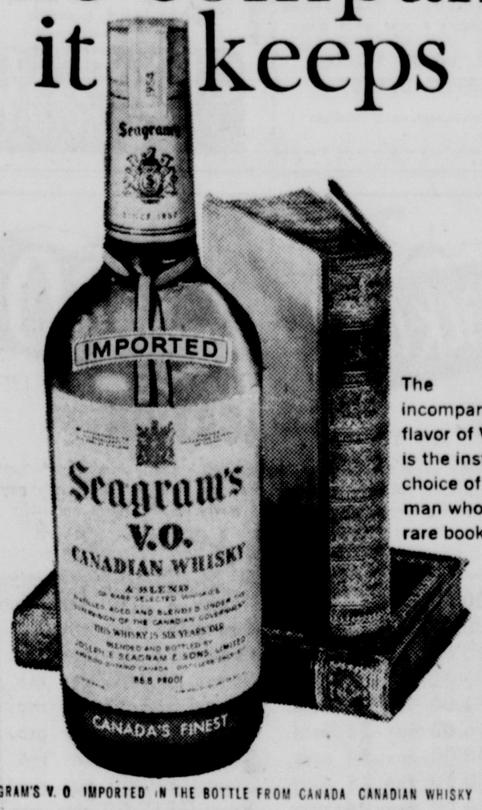

Greene was arrested at the scene by Westernport police. The men were later questioned by County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya and waived their right to a jury trial and will be tried on the criminal information.

The average size of the eggs of a bald eagle is larger the farther north they are found.

Trial Motion Denied By Judge Fraley

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Oakland yesterday denied a motion for a new trial for Tommy Lee Rigglemen, 21, of 133 Bedford Street, who was sentenced to two years in the Maryland House of Correction on May 23 after a trial in Circuit Court on a bogus check charge.

Judge Fraley said that Riggleman was in the house where the forged checks were prepared and knew of the matter. Found guilty in the same case were Hugh J. McMillan, 18, of Central YMCA, and Sarah Catherine Riggleman, 19, of 221 Davidson Street.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Riggleman, argued that the young man did not take part in making out the forged checks. Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason presented the state's case.

Over 1,000 Sign Up At Playlots

More than 1,000 youngsters registered on the first day of the local playground season Monday, Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, assistant recreation director, said today.

Heaviest registration appeared to be at Centre Street and Penn Avenue for the nine-week season of supervised play and activities.

All heavy equipment was placed at the 14 playsites Friday and Recreation Department personnel distributed light equipment—such as games—Monday.

Today from 10 a. m. to noon, an in-service training session will be held for playground personnel at City Hall.

Mrs. Hogan said the sessions will be held each Wednesday and added that 10 of the 14 leaders in the program are new this year.

County May Lose Federal Road Funds

It appears that Allegany County will not meet the deadline for advertising for construction of the Mexico Farms Road relocation project and thereby will lose $90,000 in federal highway aid.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said as much yesterday at the board meeting after a copy of a letter to U.S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall from W. Bruce Douglas of the Hazelwood Company was read.

Douglas recounted how he met with representatives of the National Park Service concerning the old C. & O. Canal which enters into the highway project plans.

Edwin Dale, superintendent of the National Park Service, said it is planned to re-water and landscape the canal for boating, horseback riding and general recreation use.

The crossings of the canal proposed by Allegany County would sever the canal, Dale is quoted as saying, and leave it useless for these purposes.

The Park Service officials asked for consideration of three proposals that would take care of their objections. The first was to construct an underpass at the Western Maryland Railway, instead of the use of the existing railroad bridge over the canal and piping for the canal crossing.

The second was for a bridge over the canal, in place of the piping that had been planned at the second canal crossing. The third proposal was for the removal of the present piped crossing over the canal with the provision for this access to several houses that would have to use this crossing as presently planned.

Douglas said that he informed Park Service officials he could not speak for the commissioners, but from an engineering viewpoint he was certain the railroad underpass was economically impossible. He later confirmed this in a talk with Rowan.

The other two alternatives are possible, from an engineering standpoint, but are not practical, Douglas stated. Cost and the time needed for redesign of the projected road will delay its approval by the State Roads Commission and U.S. Bureau of Public Roads beyond the July 1 deadline, Douglas pointed out.

Two Plead Innocent In Theft Case

Two men charged with breaking and entering and theft of merchandise from the Potomac Candy Company at Westernport on June 7 were arraigned in Circuit Court yesterday by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley.

After the men entered not guilty pleas the court named Fred Anderson and Jack I. Mullen as defense attorneys for the two men, Thomas H. Greene, 32, of Keyser, and William W. Wilson, 40, of Bloomington. Trial will be held next Tuesday before Judge Fraley here.

Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason has filed a criminal information in the case.

The information specified that 38 cartons of cigarets valued at $81.25; a box of cigars valued at $3.20 and a box of candy valued at 85 cents were taken from the company.

Authorities said the tenants who live on the second floor of the premises detected two men loitering about the building and called police.

Wilson was reported to have jumped on a Western Maryland Railway Company freight train but was later nabbed in Keyser and voluntarily returned to Maryland for prosecution.

Greene was arrested at the scene by Westernport police. The men were later questioned by County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya and waived their right to a jury trial and will be tried on the criminal information.

Trial Motion Denied By Judge Fraley

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Oakland yesterday denied a motion for a new trial for Tommy Lee Rigglemen, 21, of 133 Bedford Street, who was sentenced to two years in the Maryland House of Correction on May 23 after a trial in Circuit Court on a bogus check charge.

Judge Fraley said that Riggleman was in the house where the forged checks were prepared and knew of the matter. Found guilty in the same case were Hugh J. McMillan, 18, of Central YMCA, and Sarah Catherine Riggleman, 19, of 221 Davidson Street.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Riggleman, argued that the young man did not take part in making out the forged checks. Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason presented the state's case.

All heavy equipment was placed at the 14 playsites Friday and Recreation Department personnel distributed light equipment—such as games—Monday.

Today from 10 a. m. to noon, an in-service training session will be held for playground personnel at City Hall.

Mrs. Hogan said the sessions will be held each Wednesday and added that 10 of the 14 leaders in the program are new this year.

The oldest bird captured was a red-eyed vireo, which was banded in 1957. It was captured again in '58, '59 and '60. It spends its winters in South America. The new species were worm-eating warbler, northern water thrush, hairy woodpecker, yellow warbler and the cardinal. Altogether there were 34 different species, with 30 returns of birds banded in previous years.

Children attending the Junior Nature and Conservation Camp sponsored by the club made suet sticks and bird houses to take home. There were 158 campers with Miss Nan Livingstone director.

The annual picnic of the club will be held at Miller's home in August. Meetings will be resumed in September.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why in the world would guests who come to spend a few hours in a home be interested in what's in the medicine cabinet?

Several weeks ago I entertained some friends and one of the women apologized for breaking a jar of cold cream which was in the cabinet. She said "I just opened the cabinet door and it fell out."

When I told my husband I could not understand why she had opened the cabinet door he said, "People ALWAYS do this and I will prove it to you." He rigged a little scotch tape device on the cabinet door and showed me how to retape it after it had been detached.

Yesterday I had 12 women in for bridge. I checked the tape after each of eight women had been in the bathroom. To my horror I discovered the tape had been broken seven times! Can you tell me why this interest in other people's medicine cabinets?—DUMB-FOUNDED

DEAR DUMB-FOUNDED: Humans are a complicated, unpredictable mixture of mysterious motivations. Why do they want the front of the bus, the back of the church and the middle of the road?

There are many reasons for opening a medicine cabinet in the home of a hostess. Most of them come under the heading of plain nosiness. One woman in 25 could be looking for an aspirin. The other 24 are checking to see if it's orderly, or if the family takes a lot of medicine and if so, what kind. Don't ask me why it should matter, it apparently does.

DEAR ANN: I have a girl friend who has a lot bigger allowance than mine (like four times as much). We are both 14 years old.

At the end of the week I'm broke so she insists on buying the tickets to the movie and then she treats me to a soda or hamburgers. She also pays the bus fare for both of us.

I don't want this charity drive to end our friendship because we get along great together. I'm uneasy about her spending money on me because I have no way of paying her back. Thank you. —TOBY

P. S. I am a girl.

DEAR TOBY: I'm happy you added that P. S. I had you figured for a boy.

Cut out the domestic aid program and tell your friend you appreciate her generosity but you can no longer accept it. Plenty of interesting places are free. Let her know she doesn't have to buy your company.

DEAR ANN: I married a man whose wife died six years ago. I think the world of him and we have been very happy together, except for one thing.

His daughter and her family will not come to visit us because this is the same house where she grew up and her mother died.

We must call on them at their homes since they refuse to set foot in this house. I am sick at heart over this and my husband knows it. He says to ignore it but I can't. I'm sure he is hurt as I am, but he is a strong person and does not show it. What can I do?—N. A.

DEAR N. A.: You can continue to punish yourself about something which is not your fault and which you cannot control or change.

Or you can be mature and accept the situation and continue to visit them. The third alternative is to move into another house—although it hardly seems worth the trouble.

To learn the booby-traps of teen-age drinking, write for ANN Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Start The Summer With A Shower

Maybe you're a tub enthusiast — you can continue to be at night when you want to relax. But, let's talk about the morning shower that starts your day off right. You can't be too sparkling clean, and the first day of summer is just the time to double up on cleansing the body!

A shower makes you feel so good. It stimulates your circulation, tones body muscles, improves the texture of your skin, and altogether peps you up. Dry yourself with a heavy absorbent towel — tugging it vigorously from side to side across the shoulders, waist, and derriere. It's twice as refreshing if you splash on a lovely floral cologne before dressing.

The skin is one of the organs by which we eliminate certain unpleasant but perfectly natural odors. This is done through glands which cover the entire surface of the body. It is Nature's way of throwing off body poisons, actually. So, we must be cautious about following basic rules of cleanliness, particularly in summer when the temperature soars. A shower washes these impurities and at the same time wakes you up. It should be a tepid, quick shower, though. Be generous with the soap, or the natural oils of the body will shed water. Do not be a big, brave girl or a Spartan and try an icy-cold shower just because you heard someone rave about the benefits of it. If you do try it and are pleasantly warm afterwards, it's all right. But, if you are chilly and have a shivery, goose-pimply session followed by cold hands and feet — forget the whole thing! Also, remember never to stand under the cold shower for more than three minutes, nor take one if your body is either over-heated or chilled—you must remain a warm-shower girl!

TOMORROW: Keep the sparkle in your eye.

West Virginia's Court Procedure Reform Started Almost Half Century Ago

Editor's Note: On July 1 the rules covering civil court procedures in West Virginia will be changed radically. This is the second of three dispatches outlining the changes and their meaning to the public.

By RICHARD TOREN
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — Ten years of study and work went into the new rules which will govern West Virginia civil court procedures starting July 1, but the reform movement itself is closer to 50 years old.

It was in 1912 that the American Bar Assn. began urging the adoption of a uniform system of federal procedure.

Twenty-six years later, in 1938, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure took effect under orders of the U.S. Supreme Court — and it is these rules on which West Virginia's new ones are based.

A concurrent movement for reform of court procedures had started in West Virginia in 1928, when the State Bar Assn. asked the WVU College of Law to draft new rules for state trial courts.

If the changes seem agonizingly slow, it must be remembered that parts of the English Common Law rules being replaced were as much as 700 years old, and that the legal profession is notoriously conservative.

The State Bar Assn. resolution led to creation of the West Virginia Judicial Council by the 1933 Legislature. The Council was authorized to recommend rule changes to the State Supreme Court, but the time was not yet ripe for major revisions and little came out of the Council's work.

Movement Revived

By 1950, 21 states had adopted the federal rules, with various modifications, and a reform movement started again in West Virginia. It received a major push that year when State Bar President Charles C. Wise Jr. advocated adoption of the federal rules in an address at the annual Bar meeting.

That same year the Bar appointed a Standing Committee on Civil Rules, which began work immediately in cooperation with the Judicial Council and the West Virginia Bar Assn.

A tentative draft of rules based on the Federal Rules was presented to the Bar in 1952 and a revised preliminary draft was ready by 1955. Lawyers all over the state had a chance to present their views at a series of institutes held in 15 cities in 1955-56.

The new revision was then submitted to a referendum of Bar members in September, 1957, and won overwhelming approval by a 3½-to-1 margin.

The last step was approval by the State Supreme Court, which added its okay last Oct. 13 and made the new rules effective July 1 of this year.

A change so far — reaching was bound to arouse opposition — and it did.

Opponents said the present rules old and complicated as they may be, were being applied without injustice to any litigant. The new "discovery" provisions, they said, would allow a plaintiff to engage in a "fishing expedition" to try to support for a lawsuit.

Objections Met

There were other serious objections from a minority of lawyers and judges. Some resulted in changes in the rules as first proposed, others failed to win support from a majority of the bar and bench.

Bar leaders estimate that as many as half of the state's 1,600 —odd practicing attorneys have little or no experience in federal courts, and that only one out of four handle federal cases regularly.

Former Bar president Wise estimates that "it will probably take a year or so for all of us to get through the shake — down period with the new rules."

"Yet it used to take nearly 10 years for an attorney to become thoroughly familiar with all the intricacies of Common Law pleading," he said. "By and large, these rules will prove popular with attorneys and judges. They're really not revolutionary.

West Virginia's Court Procedure Reform Started Almost Half Century Ago

Editor's Note: On July 1 the rules covering civil court procedures in West Virginia will be changed radically. This is the second of three dispatches outlining the changes and their meaning to the public.

By RICHARD TOREN
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — Ten years of study and work went into the new rules which will govern West Virginia civil court procedures starting July 1, but the reform movement itself is closer to 50 years old.

It was in 1912 that the American Bar Assn. began urging the adoption of a uniform system of federal procedure.

Twenty-six years later, in 1938, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure took effect under orders of the U.S. Supreme Court — and it is these rules on which West Virginia's new ones are based.

A concurrent movement for reform of court procedures had started in West Virginia in 1928, when the State Bar Assn. asked the WVU College of Law to draft new rules for state trial courts.

If the changes seem agonizingly slow, it must be remembered that parts of the English Common Law rules being replaced were as much as 700 years old, and that the legal profession is notoriously conservative.

The State Bar Assn. resolution led to creation of the West Virginia Judicial Council by the 1933 Legislature. The Council was authorized to recommend rule changes to the State Supreme Court, but the time was not yet ripe for major revisions and little came out of the Council's work.

Movement Revived

By 1950, 21 states had adopted the federal rules, with various modifications, and a reform movement started again in West Virginia. It received a major push that year when State Bar President Charles C. Wise Jr. advocated adoption of the federal rules in an address at the annual Bar meeting.

That same year the Bar appointed a Standing Committee on Civil Rules, which began work immediately in cooperation with the Judicial Council and the West Virginia Bar Assn.

A tentative draft of rules based on the Federal Rules was presented to the Bar in 1952 and a revised preliminary draft was ready by 1955. Lawyers all over the state had a chance to present their views at a series of institutes held in 15 cities in 1955-56.

The new revision was then submitted to a referendum of Bar members in September, 1957, and won overwhelming approval by a 3½-to-1 margin.

The last step was approval by the State Supreme Court, which added its okay last Oct. 13 and made the new rules effective July 1 of this year.

A change so far — reaching was bound to arouse opposition — and it did.

Opponents said the present rules old and complicated as they may be, were being applied without injustice to any litigant. The new "discovery" provisions, they said, would allow a plaintiff to engage in a "fishing expedition" to try to support for a lawsuit.

Objections Met

There were other serious objections from a minority of lawyers and judges. Some resulted in changes in the rules as first proposed, others failed to win support from a majority of the bar and bench.

Bar leaders estimate that as many as half of the state's 1,600 —odd practicing attorneys have little or no experience in federal courts, and that only one out of four handle federal cases regularly.

Former Bar president Wise estimates that "it will probably take a year or so for all of us to get through the shake — down period with the new rules."

"Yet it used to take nearly 10 years for an attorney to become thoroughly familiar with all the intricacies of Common Law pleading," he said. "By and large, these rules will prove popular with attorneys and judges. They're really not revolutionary.

Dr. Johnson's Will Probated

The will of Rev. Dr. Crates S. Johnson, pastor emeritus of Central Methodist Church, who died last Friday at the age of 87, was probated yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

A daughter, Mrs. Esther Johnson Scribner, 107 Luteman Road, qualified as executrix under a $200 bond.

Rev. Dr. Johnson's will, dated September 16, 1952, provided cash bequests to a college, a seminary, a Methodist church, and to Mrs. Scribner. The trustees of Adrian College, Adrian, Mich., from which he received his doctor of divinity degree, were left $200. A $150 bequest was left to the trustees of Westminster Theological Seminary, formerly of Westminster, but now on the campus of American University in Washington, and another $150 to the trustees of Belmont Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn.

Of the remainder of his estate, Rev. Dr. Johnson left one-fourth each to his son, Rev. Robert Y. Johnson, New London, Conn., and two daughters, Mrs. Scribner and Mrs. Janet Johnson Chatham of Chickasha, Okla. Three-sixteenths was left to a grandson, George Robert Ayers, son of his deceased daughter, Josephine, and the other one-sixteenth to a son-in-law, Robert Ayers.

Also probated yesterday was the will of Mrs. Maud T. Nolan, who was a 73-year-old resident of 740 Maryland Avenue at the time of her death May 31. Her husband, William H. Nolan, qualified as executor under a $100 bond, and was the sole beneficiary. This will was dated January 17, 1951.

County Receives Road Complaints

Two road complaints were received by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday and were referred to Harry T. Skelly.

Frank Criger of Mt. Savage wrote about the "very bad shape" of Poorbaugh Road on Fire Clay Mountain. He wrote that tires and springs on automobiles had been damaged on the road, which is virtually impassable. He said that residents on the road had deeded the necessary rights-of-way to the county commissioners last year but no repairs have been made.

Robert W. Jones, 609 North Fourth Street, LaVale, reported that recent storms had done much damage to his street. He suggested that any improvements to the surface would be appreciated, if and when crews are working in LaVale.

Three Dwelling Permits Issued

Three new building permits for dwellings, which the builders estimate will cost a total of $25,800 to construct, were issued yesterday by the Allegany County assessing department.

Harold T. Stouffer, Cresaptown, was issued a permit for an $8,000 brick veneer house on Lots 49 and 50 of Hay Street at the rear of the Methodist Church in Cresaptown, Election District 7. It will be 29 by 36 feet in size.

Trooper Lechliter had been on temporary duty at the LaVale barracks about two and a half weeks before being transferred. The number of troopers at the LaVale barracks is now 30.

County Approves Fund Investment

A resolution calling for the investment of all unexpended or surplus county money in government bonds or other interest bearing securities was adopted by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

Commissioner John T. Mason, who has assumed the responsibility for investing the money in the past fiscal year, was not at yesterday's session. Commissioners John J. Rowan and William A. Wilson agreed that the investment policy should continue.

Secretary Sees County Visits

Robert Lovelace, who became the first executive secretary of the State Association of County Commissioners June 1, has written a letter to County Commissioner John T. Mason explaining his ultimate intentions of visiting all 23 of Maryland's counties.

However, Mr. Lovelace wrote, he must get his office, temporarily located in Room 39 of Symons Hall, University of Maryland, on a "going basis."

Mr. Lovelace, who is 43, has had a varied career which has taken him to many areas of the United States. He received a bachelor of arts degree in government with high distinction from the University of Connecticut and a master's in public administration from the University of Kansas. The past five years he has been a consultant on technical matters to local governments in Tennessee.

They are Trooper C. R. Mauzy of Murley's Branch Road and Trooper J. W. Lechliter of Barrelville.

Both men graduated from the State Police Academy in Pikesville in December 1957. Their new assignment was effective June 20.

Trooper Lechliter had been on temporary duty at the LaVale barracks about two and a half weeks before being transferred. The number of troopers at the LaVale barracks is now 30.

County Approves Fund Investment

A resolution calling for the investment of all unexpended or surplus county money in government bonds or other interest bearing securities was adopted by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday.

Commissioner John T. Mason, who has assumed the responsibility for investing the money in the past fiscal year, was not at yesterday's session. Commissioners John J. Rowan and William A. Wilson agreed that the investment policy should continue.

Meet At Ball Field

The Bedford Road Optimist Club will meet this week at the Mason Road ball field instead of at the fire hall. Members are helping to build and paint a concession stand and put in lights for night ball games.

Secretary Sees County Visits

Robert Lovelace, who became the first executive secretary of the State Association of County Commissioners June 1, has written a letter to County Commissioner John T. Mason explaining his ultimate intentions of visiting all 23 of Maryland's counties.

However, Mr. Lovelace wrote, he must get his office, temporarily located in Room 39 of Symons Hall, University of Maryland, on a "going basis."

Mr. Lovelace, who is 43, has had a varied career which has taken him to many areas of the United States. He received a bachelor of arts degree in government with high distinction from the University of Connecticut and a master's in public administration from the University of Kansas. The past five years he has been a consultant on technical matters to local governments in Tennessee.

Before that he was employed in city managerial positions in Emporia, Kan.; Delray Beach, Fla., and Indio, Calif.

Mr. Lovelace attended the meeting last Friday in Westminster of county commissioners from Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Frederick and Carroll counties.

Equity Suits Filed

Two new equity suits were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Norma Lee Deter vs. Joseph H. Deter Jr. and Betty Mae Ferree vs. John Edward Ferree.

A Question Of Relative Rights

A hospital union's announced intention to strike some or all of ten voluntary, non-profit New York City hospitals on or after midnight Thursday, again poses the problem of how to deal with labor disputes in critical industries. The principal issues—union recognition and collective bargaining rights — are the same ones that provoked a disorderly and unsuccessful 46-day strike against seven of New York's hospitals a year ago.

Although certain to cause inconvenience, a strike is not likely to imperil immediately the public safety. New York City has 72 other voluntary hospitals, plus city-run institutions. During the 1959 strike the seven affected hospitals were able to keep in operation through use of volunteer help.

Much of the public apparently agrees with economist Sumner H. Slichter's view that hospitals are in a category where the need for continuous service is more important than the freedom of employers and unions to fight each other through strikes and lockouts. This principle has recognition in a New York law that exempts hospital trustees from having to discuss collective bargaining recognition, in this case with Local 1199 of the Drug and Hospital Employes Union.

Still, the union has won considerable sympathy for its position by giving ample warning of its strike intentions and by offering to include a perpetual never-strike clause in any signed agreement, thereby — according to the union — "removing the possibility of a strike for all time." The public also is aware that the lower-rung hospital workers generally are very poorly paid.

Balancing the need for performance of essential public services against the right of employes to exercise collective action is a delicate task. If the parties to the dispute fail to resolve the present issues, Mayor Robert Wagner is expected to intervene with a board of inquiry or mediation.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Spies Everywhere

Soviet agents take the law in their own hands whenever they so desire. It is probable that all agents do that. For instance, Israeli agents kidnapped Adolf Eichmann from the Argentine. The puzzling Czajer case also is in point:

On the evening of November 29, 1959, Washington's Metropolitan Police Department was informed by Polish Embassy and State Department officials that it had been reported by Antoni Czajer that sometime during the day while he was out with his two children, his wife was brutally attacked by three men who had forced their way into the Czajer apartment in an announced quest for photographs and documents. Zofia Czajer, the assaulted woman, is the wife of Antoni Czajer, Second Secretary of the Polish Embassy in Washington. The police were unable to question Mrs. Czajer immediately because of her hysterical condition and the interference of the Polish Embassy officials who insisted on their right of extraterritoriality.

Because of diplomatic interference, the police were forced to wait 19 days before being permitted by the Polish Embassy to interview Mrs. Czajer although she was fully capable of answering questions. The interview on December 18, 1959, lasted only one hour as Mrs. Czajer became upset when questioned on crucial points. The interview and subsequent police investigation revealed several factors which remain unexplained. Mrs. Czajer stated she first became aware of the presence of the intruders when she was shaken awake by one of them. Yet the apartment door was always kept heavily locked and there was no evidence of forced entry.

Police concluded that entry had been achieved by invitation or by a duplicate key. Yet even three weeks after the incident, no request had been made to change the door lock, indicating a lack of fear that a duplicate key was available. The assumption must be that Mrs. Czajer knew who her intruder was, but no one can understand why the police were called in at all.

Police were required to wait several days before being permitted to process the apartment for fingerprints, and then only fingerprints of the Czajer family were located. This, despite the fact that one of the three alleged intruders was ungloved, as proven by a minute description of a ring he wore.

It also seemed odd to police that Mrs. Czajer was able to give a detailed description of only one man and had the vaguest recollection of the remaining two. Mrs. Czajer recalled to police how she was able to prevent the three men from taking one article they had located by wresting it from their grasp.

It is not understandable how Mrs. Czajer could describe anything if she was in the semi-conscious condition which her husband described. The assumption regarding this is that the whole matter was of some political or espionage significance, particularly as much attention was paid to it in Poland. There the Ministry of Foreign Affairs treated it as an assault on a Polish woman in Washington, but it did not say why it was done.

Such puzzling cases often lead to the conclusion that some inner situation is involved, the intruders often looking for documents because they suspect a double-cross, double espionage, or counter espionage. Sometimes, particularly in the case of a woman, an attack is made on a blabber-mouth to frighten her. Of course, not only women are blabber-mouths or are indiscreet. Sometimes, men do very foolish things.

For instance, there is the case of a United States citizen on official business in an Iron Curtain country who was compromised by a combination of Communist-provided maid service and an infra-red camera which takes pictures in the dark. When Communist officials attempted to blackmail him into espionage, he refused to cooperate and told his superiors what had happened. It was necessary to transfer him to another post.

The infra-red camera is used constantly in this work. It takes pictures in the dark without exposing itself. It can be hidden and worked from another room. It is used particularly to get the goods on a man who engages in any form of sex relations and who then can be freely blackmailed either by making his indecencies known to his family or to his government. Often frightened men become spies.

Argentina Has Had Its Own Problems With Escaped Criminals In The Past

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — National passions are inflamed both in Argentina and Israel over the kidnapping of Nazi criminal Adolf Eichmann which is being debated today in the U.N. Security Council. Argentine diplomats who now demand Eichmann's return, however, might take a look at some other arguments over body-snatching in the Western Hemisphere.

One case which aroused the Argentines just three years ago was when the No. 1 storm trooper of the Peron regime, Patrico Kelly, fled to Chile March 18, 1957. Kelly sneaked across the southern border of Argentina into the little Chilean town of Punta Arenas by bribing border guards. With him were six other top Peron fascists all of them escaping from the Rio Gallegos Jail in Patagonia.

The new Argentine government was just as irate at the escape of these Peron strong-arm men as the Israeli government would be if Eichmann now escaped from his Jerusalem cell, and there were intimations that they might be kidnaped and returned to Argentina.

To prevent any kindaping, Chile jailed all seven, taking them as a precaution away from the border to Santiago.

The Argentine government, which had just kicked out Peron, demanded their return. Chile considered the matter, finally decided that five had been guilty only of political crimes and should not go back, but that two —Kelly and John W. Cooke— must return to stand trial for brutal and inhumane crimes. Kelly was considered a sort of counterpart of Eichmann. Before he could be extradited, however, Senorita Blanco Luce Brum, a right-wing writer, came into Kelly's cell, exchanged clothes with him and he escaped, dressed as a woman, Sept. 29, 1957.

The Chilean ministers of justice and foreign affairs were suspended as a result. Kelly fled to Cuba, then to the Dominican Republic where he joined his old chief, ex-president Juan Peron, in exile.

Another intense Latin-American row took place over Victor Raoul Haya de la Torre, head of the APRA party in Peru who took refuge in the Colombian Embassy in Lima, remaining there for three years while the two countries argued bitterly over who had jurisdiction. The dispute finally went to the World Court which handed down a wishy-washy maybe-this, maybe-that opinion. Finally the matter was solved by a change of governments in Peru which permitted de la Torre freedom.

Most sensational case of international kidnaping in the Western Hemipshere was that of Prof. Jesus de Galindez of Columbia University who was whisked off the streets of New York in 1956 reportedly to the Dominican Republic. Who kidnaped Galindez has never been solved and nobody knows where he is today.

Big Business Label

The Eisenhower administration has now handed the "big business" label given it by the Democrats back to Democratic Senators.

This was done by sending the appointment of Bob Bicks to the Senate for confirmation as assistant Attorney General in charge of the justice department's antitrust division.

Bicks ranks along with Judge Thurman Arnold as the toughest antitrust prosecutor the Justice Department has ever seen. He has gone after some of the biggest contributors to the Republican Party, including du Pont and General Motors. Members of the cabinet have grumbled over Bick's activity, but both Eisenhower and Bicks's immediate chief, Attorney General Bill Rogers, have backed him up.

Eisenhower has said privately: "If these fellows have done wrong, the law ought to be enforced."

For a long time Bicks was "acting" in a temporary capacity. But now his name has been sent to the Senate for definite confirmation, and it will be up to the Democrats to veto or approve him.

The subcommittee appointed to scrutinize him includes Jim Eastland of Mississippi, Olin Johnston of South Carolina, Democrats, and Roman Hruska of Nebraska, Republican. Johnston, who has battled against big business, will be for Bicks.

The interesting factor to watch, however, will be two Republicans. One is Tom Curtis, the forthright Congressman from Missouri who is pulling no punches in going to bat for Bicks's confirmation. The other is Sen. E. McKinley Dirksen, the GOP leader who, despite Eisenhower, doesn't want Bicks confirmed.

Dirksen has been maneuvering so that Bicks's confirmation will not come up before the full Senate until about the last week of this session of Congress. Then he hopes to stall.

Johnson-McCarthy Ticket

What makes the otherwise confident Kennedy camp nervous these days is the fact that his fellow Catholic, Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, is reported flirting with the idea of running for Vice President on a Lyndon Johnson ticket.

McCarthy, one of the outstanding and most respected members of the Senate, come from the farm belt and has the confidence of both farmers and labor. He studied for the priesthood, has a spotless family life, and is the idol of the liberals in both the House and the Senate. He was one of the organizers of the "Democratic study group" in the House which has scored such a record in pushing through important legislation this year.

A Johnson-McCarthy ticket, all politicians agree, would have great voter appeal.

Behind The Lines

Labor leaders who control the AFL-CIO's political education committee have agreed informally that Adlai Stevenson would be their first choice for President. As second choice, they would accept either Senator Kennedy or Senator Symington . . . Adlai Stevenson has told friends that if elected President he would immediately seek to renew talks with Premier Khrushchev. Stevenson declared privately that the world's most terrible problem is to avoid nuclear catastrophe. Somehow, some way, he said, the world powers must scrap their nuclear weapons. He would not lower America's guard, however, until he worked out a foolproof agreement with the Kremlin . .

President Often Balked At "Personal Diplomacy"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Memories are short, so it is important to go back a couple of years and retrace the steps by which the American people were misled into the belief that "summit" conferences would solve their troubles with the Communist regime in Moscow.

The files of the newspapers will show that President Eisenhower again and again balked at "personal diplomacy" and the "summit" idea. He repeatedly said he saw no possible good accruing from this unless agreements on fundamental issues were reached in advance through normal, diplomatic channels.

But many of the spokesmen for the Democratic Party thought otherwise. Again and again, Adlai Stevenson and Senator Fulbright of Arkansas, the Democratic chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, by their public statements, kept prodding Mr. Eisenhower.

Senator Fulbright on January 30, 1959, criticized the administration for appearing unwilling to negotiate the issues dividing East and West. He declared that the United States should also be willing "to explore the possibilities of arriving at some understanding" with Red China that might lead to its recognition. He indicated his belief that the administration too often took a "rigid" position against negotiating.

The Arkansas Senator became so enthusiastic about "summit" conferences that in March 1959 he declared they should be held at least twice a year. Again, on June 7, 1959, he said: "I can't see any great reason to fear a summit, and talk things over. If nothing comes of it, what harm is done?"

The Soviet government has been taking Mr. Fulbright's comments seriously and quoting them with approval. In fact, divided government in America — with one party controlling Congress and another controlling the White House — makes it difficult for the United States to speak with one voice.

The Communist game, of course, has been to use "summit" conferences as a form of blackmail. When the meeting of the four foreign ministers at Geneva had ended in failure, this correspondent wrote in June 1959:

"Nikita Khrushchev has presented another of his exasperating contradictions. In one breath, he says in a published interview that the Soviet Union would not agree to a 'perpetuation of the occupation regime in West Berlin,' and, in another, he says urgent international questions can be settled only in a conference of the heads of government at a 'summit' meeting.

"This is merely a way of announcing that, if President Eisenhower is willing to surrender at a 'summit' meeting, all will be well in the world. The Soviet leader's idea of removing tension is simply to have his way in Europe.

"Khrushchev's strategy is, therefore, out in the open at last. He apparently never wanted the four-power conference at Geneva to succeed. He has put obstacle after obstacle into the path of the western foreign ministers, yet at any moment he could have instructed Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to work out a compromise with the West on almost any issue.

"Will the West now give in and grant Khruschev the 'summit' conference he wants, thus bowing dramatically to his dictatorial power and building up his prestige behind the Iron Curtain?"

So long as there was a chance for Khrushchev to have his way, he promoted "summit" conferences and held in leash his agents and stooges who had infiltrated various institutions in the free world. When the Soviet Premier became convinced that the West would not give in on Berlin, he decided to change his tactics.

After the "summit" fiasco in Paris last month, word evidently went out to the Communist agents in the Far East and in Cuba and Latin America to stir up as much trouble as possible for the United States. This stemmed from a belief that, if the Soviets could discredit Mr. Eisenhower and his party, the American people would elect a Democratic president from whom it presumably would be easier for Moscow to get the concessions it wants. Indeed, the Communists must have derived this idea from reading closely the speeches and comments by leading Democrats who have intimated that a change in administration would mean a "change" in policy toward Russia.

The real cancer, therefore, in international relations today — a disease that is eating away at the vitals of the democracies of the West — is interparty politics. In England, the left-wing Laborites are constantly giving aid and comfort to Moscow by proposals that look toward weakening of military bases in Europe needed to deter a Soviet attack. This viewpoint is not so popular in Britain today.

In a few weeks, when the Far Eastern situation is viewed in perspective, it will be found that the anti-Communist feeling in the West generally will have been strengthened by recent events. The disillusionment with Soviet tactics will at last bring about the tougher policy that the western countries should all along have pursued. For to act in what appears a craven spirit, as happened at Munich in 1938, causes a dictatorship to miscalculate and bring on war.

The Tokyo episode and the Khrushchev tirades and insults will eventually make the West more resolute. For there must be courage and inflexibility in facing a dictatorship — as the late John Foster Dulles vainly strived to convince the world in the many years he stood up to the Communist threat, only to be derided by Democratic Party critics as engaging in "brinkmanship." What is needed today of course, is some stern "brinkmanship" and resoluteness in facing Nikita Khrushchev, just as a similar attitude toward Hitler in 1938 and 1939 might have averted World War II.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

EXPENSE SCANDAL — The expense account scandal which has hit the House of Representatives is seriously worrying some Congressmen who have to run for re-election from marginal districts.

Unlike the padded payroll nepotism disclosures of a year ago, innocent House members cannot prove it by publicly announcing their staff members and salaries. The current revelations cast a suspicion of guilt over all members who have been traveling on Congressional business.

Speaker Sam Rayburn and other House leaders attempted to keep the touchy matter from getting out of hand by temporarily preventing reporters from examining records of members' expense accounts. However, this is admittedly a short-term measure and other means were sought to try to keep prying newsmen from digging for irregularities.

The disclosures showed that many members of Congress, while traveling on the business of the House, charged their liquor bills and hotel bills of wives accompanying them to the government by altering their bills.

Other irregularities included members of Congress charging per diem expenses for conducting "investigations" near their homes while the House was adjourned.

Essentially this has been petty stuff. However, there is a larger potential scandal in the misuse of so-called "counterpart funds" by Congressmen and Senators who travel abroad. These funds, received from foreign countries in payment for American aid, are held in our embassies, and can be drawn on freely by legislators abroad on Congressional business.

There are good grounds to believe that in some instances the counterpart funds have been used for personal shopping, high living and to finance foreign trips for members of legislators' families.

The World In A.D. 2000

Part Three

How much did God put on deposit for man? . . .

No one knows. I asked in Washington and I asked at the United Nations and no one knows how much copper, how much oil, coal, uranium, iron. No one knows how much topsoil.

Originally, when this ball of mud was fashioned, a lot of resources were put in it. We have tapped them unmercifully, and no one knows how much more can be withdrawn without tapping out.

The ball we call the earth is about 25,000 miles round. It is one of nine planets in a group. They spin around a sun, which furnishes light and heat. Other suns, farther away, give ten thousand times the light of ours. Some are so big that one million of our suns would be lost inside one of them.

Most astronomers are in agreement that the universe is shaped like a big dinner dish. Our sun and planets form a chip near one edge. To give you an idea of size, let me tell you that, in 1901, our scientists watched a star explode in the constellation Perseus. The explosion occurred around the year 1600.

Our earth, in the universe, is smaller than a spec of dust. Still, the people on it draw boundaries and threaten each other as though possession of all of it was important. Three quarters of the earth is water. This leaves 25 per cent. Of that, half is within the Arctic and Antarctic circles or is mountainous or sandy desert.

That leaves 12½ per cent. Of that, 6,300,000,000 people will soon have to live on some of it, and that leaves less than 10 percent on which to grow food. This, in round figures, comes to about 16 billion acres. It sounds like a lot, but scientists figure that two and a half acres are required to keep one person fed and clothed. In the year 2000, the people will need 15,750,000,000 acres, if all are under cultivation. Some of this, sadly enough, will be cities and parks, airports and forest — so we can't farm all of it.

The total cannot be made greater because all living plants are nourished by the top seven inches of the earth which we call topsoil. All the corn and oats and wheat and spinach — even the grass for feeding cattle, comes off the top seven inches. It requires between 300 years and 1,000 years to grow a cubic inch of new topsoil.

In Greece, only two percent of the land has any topsoil. Greece imports food. Turkey once had great forests. The land was stripped; the rain tore the topsoil loose and now Tarsus, which was once a seaport, lies 10 miles behind all the silt.

In the United States 30 years ago, a billion tons of topsoil blew out to sea each year because the farmers robbed the land of its nourishment. That has been stopped and the U. S. has 460,000,000 acres of good cropland left. American farmers are much more careful of the land today.

Should the course of inflation proceed on a scale equal to its progression since price controls were lifted, there will be a minimum wage law of $3 an hour in the year 2000. This is what a grocery clerk or an office boy will get. A truck driver may earn $9 an hour under union scale, but he will pay $2.80 a pound for the cheapest roundsteak and milk will be 82 cents a quart.

There will be 126,000,000 people ready to fill 110,000,000 jobs, so that 16,000,00 on unemployment insurance is what we can expect in prosperous times. It is debatable whether the nation will have a 4-day work week, but it is probable. Even so, purchasing power will be no greater than it is now.

A loaf of bread will cost 70 cents. A small apartment will rent for $240 a month. Workmen's shoes will cost $32 a pair. A sandwich, a piece of pie and a cup of coffee in a beanery will come to $2.40.

The sky will have dozens of space stations. They will average 120 feet in diameter and look like big cycle wheels. Each will carry 50 men who will live in the rim for 90 days. The bike wheels will rotate slowly to keep stabilized.

The will be used as refueling stations for space ships, as radar spies on other nations, as relay stations for overseas television programs and as missile forts.

Forgive me if I smile a little. I won't be around for any of this. . .

Most Healthy Couples Can Have Children

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The majority of normal, healthy married couples are able to have children within two years after marriage. In contrast to these complete families, are the 10 per cent who are unable to reproduce. But modern science has much to offer childless couples, 40 per cent of whom can be helped.

The barren pair should not be overly concerned or resort to complicated diagnostic tests or surgery until two years have elapsed. It is true that sterility problems increase among those who do not conceive after one year but the odds are too good to be pessimistic.

In addition, tension and unrest may contribute to sterility. Relax, give nature a chance, and wait two years before consulting a physician about sterility. When the time comes, both husband and wife should undergo a thorough examination, including special tests to determine whether the sperm are healthy, the reproductive organs normal, and the tubes open.

More than one cause might be found. It is surprising how often infertility stems from general health problems. Pregnancy often follows corrections in diet, rest, metabolism (thyroid), sex hygiene, and the avoidance of tension and anxiety.

Conception has occurred after weight reduction or the use of thyroid extract when metabolism was low. In some instances, both husband and wife are exhausted physically, mentally, and sexually. A long quiet vacation produces results.

Newer advances in our knowledge of hormones have been helpful. The same applies to disorders that can be corrected surgically. A new and safe fertility tape, using glucose, was reported recently. This simple procedure tells the woman when she is most susceptible to conception.

TOMORROW: Ganglion and other tumors.

WALKING TALL

A. S. writes: What is the maximum a person in the early forties can stretch himself and how long will it last?

REPLY

An inch, for a few minutes. On the other hand, the additional height may last longer if a stooped person decides to walk tall with the head held high and the shoulders back.

HIGH GRADE PROTEINS

G. A. D. writes: What is in the best proteins that entitles them to be called high grade?

REPLY

Protein foods are broken down into many different amino acids during the process of digestion. Meat, fish, milk, and eggs are considered high grade because of their complete amino acid composition and good digestibility.

TEETH

S. S. writes: If an 8 year old still has some baby teeth, should they be pulled so the second set can come through?

REPLY

See your dentist. You do not say what baby teeth your 8 year old has left. The first set usually is gone by age 12. The roots of these deciduous teeth absorb as a rule but if they don't, and the teeth remain in the mouth, the second teeth will erupt in front of or behind them. Your dentist will want to see an X-ray because occasionally the baby teeth have no successors and will have to function as permanent teeth.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

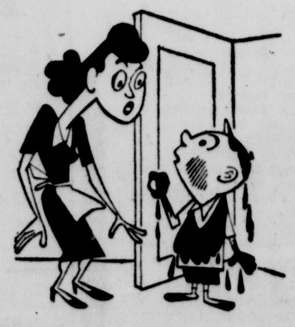

By Bennett Cerf

Two wall-mottoes spotted by Hollywood's ever-alert Herb Stein: 1. We like your attitude—but what are you doing? 2. Knowledge is power—if you know it about the right person.

A Texas youngster came home covered with oil. "Junior," his mother rebuked him, "how often have I told you not to dig holes in the back yard?"

Asked his secret of being a fine actor, Alfred Lunt explained blithely, "I speak in a loud, clear voice — and keep from bumping into the furniture."

A Question Of Relative Rights

A hospital union's announced intention to strike some or all of ten voluntary, non-profit New York City hospitals on or after midnight Thursday, again poses the problem of how to deal with labor disputes in critical industries. The principal issues—union recognition and collective bargaining rights — are the same ones that provoked a disorderly and unsuccessful 46-day strike against seven of New York's hospitals a year ago.

Although certain to cause inconvenience, a strike is not likely to imperil immediately the public safety. New York City has 72 other voluntary hospitals, plus city-run institutions. During the 1959 strike the seven affected hospitals were able to keep in operation through use of volunteer help.

Much of the public apparently agrees with economist Sumner H. Slichter's view that hospitals are in a category where the need for continuous service is more important than the freedom of employers and unions to fight each other through strikes and lockouts. This principle has recognition in a New York law that exempts hospital trustees from having to discuss collective bargaining recognition, in this case with Local 1199 of the Drug and Hospital Employes Union.

Still, the union has won considerable sympathy for its position by giving ample warning of its strike intentions and by offering to include a perpetual never-strike clause in any signed agreement, thereby — according to the union — "removing the possibility of a strike for all time." The public also is aware that the lower-rung hospital workers generally are very poorly paid.

Balancing the need for performance of essential public services against the right of employes to exercise collective action is a delicate task. If the parties to the dispute fail to resolve the present issues, Mayor Robert Wagner is expected to intervene with a board of inquiry or mediation.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Spies Everywhere

Soviet agents take the law in their own hands whenever they so desire. It is probable that all agents do that. For instance, Israeli agents kidnapped Adolf Eichmann from the Argentine. The puzzling Czajer case also is in point:

On the evening of November 29, 1959, Washington's Metropolitan Police Department was informed by Polish Embassy and State Department officials that it had been reported by Antoni Czajer that sometime during the day while he was out with his two children, his wife was brutally attacked by three men who had forced their way into the Czajer apartment in an announced quest for photographs and documents. Zofia Czajer, the assaulted woman, is the wife of Antoni Czajer, Second Secretary of the Polish Embassy in Washington. The police were unable to question Mrs. Czajer immediately because of her hysterical condition and the interference of the Polish Embassy officials who insisted on their right of extraterritoriality.

Because of diplomatic interference, the police were forced to wait 19 days before being permitted by the Polish Embassy to interview Mrs. Czajer although she was fully capable of answering questions. The interview on December 18, 1959, lasted only one hour as Mrs. Czajer became upset when questioned on crucial points. The interview and subsequent police investigation revealed several factors which remain unexplained. Mrs. Czajer stated she first became aware of the presence of the intruders when she was shaken awake by one of them. Yet the apartment door was always kept heavily locked and there was no evidence of forced entry.

Police concluded that entry had been achieved by invitation or by a duplicate key. Yet even three weeks after the incident, no request had been made to change the door lock, indicating a lack of fear that a duplicate key was available. The assumption must be that Mrs. Czajer knew who her intruder was, but no one can understand why the police were called in at all.

Police were required to wait several days before being permitted to process the apartment for fingerprints, and then only fingerprints of the Czajer family were located. This, despite the fact that one of the three alleged intruders was ungloved, as proven by a minute description of a ring he wore.

It also seemed odd to police that Mrs. Czajer was able to give a detailed description of only one man and had the vaguest recollection of the remaining two. Mrs. Czajer recalled to police how she was able to prevent the three men from taking one article they had located by wresting it from their grasp.

It is not understandable how Mrs. Czajer could describe anything if she was in the semi-conscious condition which her husband described. The assumption regarding this is that the whole matter was of some political or espionage significance, particularly as much attention was paid to it in Poland. There the Ministry of Foreign Affairs treated it as an assault on a Polish woman in Washington, but it did not say why it was done.

Such puzzling cases often lead to the conclusion that some inner situation is involved, the intruders often looking for documents because they suspect a double-cross, double espionage, or counter espionage. Sometimes, particularly in the case of a woman, an attack is made on a blabber-mouth to frighten her. Of course, not only women are blabber-mouths or are indiscreet. Sometimes, men do very foolish things.

For instance, there is the case of a United States citizen on official business in an Iron Curtain country who was compromised by a combination of Communist-provided maid service and an infra-red camera which takes pictures in the dark. When Communist officials attempted to blackmail him into espionage, he refused to cooperate and told his superiors what had happened. It was necessary to transfer him to another post.

The infra-red camera is used constantly in this work. It takes pictures in the dark without exposing itself. It can be hidden and worked from another room. It is used particularly to get the goods on a man who engages in any form of sex relations and who then can be freely blackmailed either by making his indecencies known to his family or to his government. Often frightened men become spies.

Argentina Has Had Its Own Problems With Escaped Criminals In The Past

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — National passions are inflamed both in Argentina and Israel over the kidnapping of Nazi criminal Adolf Eichmann which is being debated today in the U.N. Security Council. Argentine diplomats who now demand Eichmann's return, however, might take a look at some other arguments over body-snatching in the Western Hemisphere.

One case which aroused the Argentines just three years ago was when the No. 1 storm trooper of the Peron regime, Patrico Kelly, fled to Chile March 18, 1957. Kelly sneaked across the southern border of Argentina into the little Chilean town of Punta Arenas by bribing border guards. With him were six other top Peron fascists all of them escaping from the Rio Gallegos Jail in Pategonia.

The new Argentine government was just as irate at the escape of these Peron strong-arm men as the Israeli government would be if Eichmann now escaped from his Jerusalem cell, and there were intimations that they might be kidnaped and returned to Argentina.

To prevent any kindaping, Chile jailed all seven, taking them as a precaution away from the border to Santiago.

The Argentine government, which had just kicked out Peron, demanded their return. Chile considered the matter, finally decided that five had been guilty only of political crimes and should not go back, but that two —Kelly and John W. Cooke— must return to stand trial for brutal and inhumane crimes. Kelly was considered a sort of counterpart of Eichmann. Before he could be extradited, however, Senorita Blanco Luce Brum, a right-wing writer, came into Kelly's cell, exchanged clothes with him and he escaped, dressed as a woman, Sept. 29, 1957.

The Chilean ministers of justice and foreign affairs were suspended as a result. Kelly fled to Cuba, then to the Dominican Republic where he joined his old chief, ex-president Juan Peron, in exile.

Another intense Latin-American row took place over Victor Raoul Haya de la Torre, head of the APRA party in Peru who took refuge in the Colombian Embassy in Lima, remaining there for three years while the two countries argued bitterly over who had jurisdiction. The dispute finally went to the World Court which handed down a wishy-washy maybe-this, maybe-that opinion. Finally the matter was solved by a change of governments in Peru which permitted de la Torre freedom.

Most sensational case of international kidnaping in the Western Hemipshere was that of Prof. Jesus de Galindez of Columbia University who was whisked off the streets of New York in 1956 reportedly to the Dominican Republic. Who kidnaped Galindez has never been solved and nobody knows where he is today.

Big Business Label

The Eisenhower administration has now handed the "big business" label given it by the Democrats back to Democratic Senators.

This was done by sending the appointment of Bob Bicks to the Senate for confirmation as assistant Attorney General in charge of the justice department's antitrust division.

Bicks ranks along with Judge Thurman Arnold as the toughest antitrust prosecutor the Justice Department has ever seen. He has gone after some of the biggest contributors to the Republican Party, including du Pont and General Motors. Members of the cabinet have grumbled over Bick's activity, but both Eisenhower and Bicks's immediate chief, Attorney General Bill Rogers, have backed him up.

Eisenhower has said privately: "If these fellows have done wrong, the law ought to be enforced."

For a long time Bicks was "acting" in a temporary capacity. But now his name has been sent to the Senate for definite confirmation, and it will be up to the Democrats to veto or approve him.

The subcommittee appointed to scrutinize him includes Jim Eastland of Mississippi, Olin Johnston of South Carolina, Democrats, and Roman Hruska of Nebraska, Republican. Johnston, who has battled against big business, will be for Bicks.

The interesting factor to watch, however, will be two Republicans. One is Tom Curtis, the forthright Congressman from Missouri who is pulling no punches in going to bat for Bicks's confirmation. The other is Sen. E. McKinley Dirksen, the GOP leader who, despite Eisenhower, doesn't want Bicks confirmed.

Dirksen has been maneuvering so that Bicks's confirmation will not come up before the full Senate until about the last week of this session of Congress. Then he hopes to stall.

Johnson-McCarthy Ticket

What makes the otherwise confident Kennedy camp nervous these days is the fact that his fellow Catholic, Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, is reported flirting with the idea of running for Vice President on a Lyndon Johnson ticket.

McCarthy, one of the outstanding and most respected members of the Senate, come from the farm belt and has the confidence of both farmers and labor. He studied for the priesthood, has a spotless family life, and is the idol of the liberals in both the House and the Senate. He was one of the organizers of the "Democratic study group" in the House which has scored such a record in pushing through important legislation this year.

A Johnson-McCarthy ticket, all politicians agree, would have great voter appeal.

Behind The Lines

Labor leaders who control the AFL-CIO's political education committee have agreed informally that Adlai Stevenson would be their first choice for President. As second choice, they would accept either Senator Kennedy or Senator Symington . . . Adlai Stevenson has told friends that if elected President he would immediately seek to renew talks with Premier Khrushchev. Stevenson declared privately that the world's most terrible problem is to avoid nuclear catastrophe. Somehow, some way, he said, the world powers must scrap their nuclear weapons. He would not lower America's guard, however, until he worked out a foolproof agreement with the Kremlin . .

President Often Balked At "Personal Diplomacy"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Memories are short, so it is important to go back a couple of years and retrace the steps by which the American people were misled into the belief that "summit" conferences would solve their troubles with the Communist regime in Moscow.

The files of the newspapers will show that President Eisenhower again and again balked at "personal diplomacy" and the "summit" idea. He repeatedly said he saw no possible good accruing from this unless agreements on fundamental issues were reached in advance through normal, diplomatic channels.

But many of the spokesmen for the Democratic Party thought otherwise. Again and again, Adlai Stevenson and Senator Fulbright of Arkansas, the Democratic chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, by their public statements, kept prodding Mr. Eisenhower.

Senator Fulbright on January 30, 1959, criticized the administration for appearing unwilling to negotiate the issues dividing East and West. He declared that the United States should also be willing "to explore the possibilities of arriving at some understanding" with Red China that might lead to its recognition. He indicated his belief that the administration too often took a "rigid" position against negotiating.

The Arkansas Senator became so enthusiastic about "summit" conferences that in March 1959 he declared they should be held at least twice a year. Again, on June 7, 1959, he said: "I can't see any great reason to fear a summit, and talk things over. If nothing comes of it, what harm is done?"

The Soviet government has been taking Mr. Fulbright's comments seriously and quoting them with approval. In fact, divided government in America — with one party controlling Congress and another controlling the White House — makes it difficult for the United States to speak with one voice.

The Communist game, of course, has been to use "summit" conferences as a form of blackmail. When the meeting of the four foreign ministers at Geneva had ended in failure, this correspondent wrote in June 1959:

"Nikita Khrushchev has presented another of his exasperating contradictions. In one breath, he says in a published interview that the Soviet Union would not agree to a 'perpetuation of the occupation regime in West Berlin,' and, in another, he says urgent international questions can be settled only in a conference of the heads of government at a 'summit' meeting.

"This is merely a way of announcing that, if President Eisenhower is willing to surrender at a 'summit' meeting, all will be well in the world. The Soviet leader's idea of removing tension is simply to have his way in Europe.

"Khrushchev's strategy is, therefore, out in the open at last. He apparently never wanted the four-power conference at Geneva to succeed. He has put obstacle after obstacle into the path of the western foreign ministers, yet at any moment he could have instructed Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to work out a compromise with the West on almost any issue.

"Will the West now give in and grant Khruschev the 'summit' conference he wants, thus bowing dramatically to his dictatorial power and building up his prestige behind the Iron Curtain?"

So long as there was a chance for Khrushchev to have his way, he promoted "summit" conferences and held in leash his agents and stooges who had infiltrated various institutions in the free world. When the Soviet Premier became convinced that the West would not give in on Berlin, he decided to change his tactics.

After the "summit" fiasco in Paris last month, word evidently went out to the Communist agents in the Far East and in Cuba and Latin America to stir up as much trouble as possible for the United States. This stemmed from a belief that, if the Soviets could discredit Mr. Eisenhower and his party, the American people would elect a Democratic president from whom it presumably would be easier for Moscow to get the concessions it wants. Indeed, the Communists must have derived this idea from reading closely the speeches and comments by leading Democrats who have intimated that a change in administration would mean a "change" in policy toward Russia.

The real cancer, therefore, in international relations today — a disease that is eating away at the vitals of the democracies of the West — is interparty politics. In England, the left-wing Laborites are constantly giving aid and comfort to Moscow by proposals that look toward weakening of military bases in Europe needed to deter a Soviet attack. This viewpoint is not so popular in Britain today.

In a few weeks, when the Far Eastern situation is viewed in perspective, it will be found that the anti-Communist feeling in the West generally will have been strengthened by recent events. The disillusionment with Soviet tactics will at last bring about the tougher policy that the western countries should all along have pursued. For to act in what appears a craven spirit, as happened at Munich in 1938, causes a dictatorship to miscalculate and bring on war.

The Tokyo episode and the Khrushchev tirades and insults will eventually make the West more resolute. For there must be courage and inflexibility in facing a dictatorship — as the late John Foster Dulles vainly strived to convince the world in the many years he stood up to the Communist threat, only to be derided by Democratic Party critics as engaging in "brinkmanship." What is needed today of course, is some stern "brinkmanship" and resoluteness in facing Nikita Khrushchev, just as a similar attitude toward Hitler in 1938 and 1939 might have averted World War II.

Inside Washington

EXPENSE SCANDAL — The expense account scandal which has hit the House of Representatives is seriously worrying some Congressmen who have to run for re-election from marginal districts.

Unlike the padded payroll nepotism disclosures of a year ago, innocent House members cannot prove it by publicly announcing their staff members and salaries. The current revelations cast a suspicion of guilt over all members who have been traveling on Congressional business.

Speaker Sam Rayburn and other House leaders attempted to keep the touchy matter from getting out of hand by temporarily preventing reporters from examining records of members' expense accounts. However, this is admittedly a short-term measure and other means were sought to try to keep prying newsmen from digging for irregularities.

The disclosures showed that many members of Congress, while traveling on the business of the House, charged their liquor bills and hotel bills of wives accompanying them to the government by altering their bills.

Other irregularities included members of Congress charging per diem expenses for conducting "investigations" near their homes while the House was adjourned.

Essentially this has been petty stuff. However, there is a larger potential scandal in the misuse of so-called "counterpart funds" by Congressmen and Senators who travel abroad. These funds, received from foreign countries in payment for American aid, are held in our embassies, and can be drawn on freely by legislators abroad on Congressional business.

There are good grounds to believe that in some instances the counterpart funds have been used for personal shopping, high living and to finance foreign trips for members of legislators' families.

The World In A.D. 2000

Part Three

How much did God put on deposit for man? . . .

No one knows. I asked in Washington and I asked at the United Nations and no one knows how much copper, how much oil, coal, uranium, iron. No one knows how much topsoil.

Originally, when this ball of mud was fashioned, a lot of resources were put in it. We have tapped them unmercifully, and no one knows how much more can be withdrawn without tapping out.

The ball we call the earth is about 25,000 miles round. It is one of nine planets in a group. They spin around a sun, which furnishes light and heat. Other suns, farther away, give ten thousand times the light of ours. Some are so big that one million of our suns would be lost inside one of them.

Most astronomers are in agreement that the universe is shaped like a big dinner dish. Our sun and planets form a chip near one edge. To give you an idea of size, let me tell you that, in 1901, our scientists watched a star explode in the constellation Perseus. The explosion occurred around the year 1600.

Our earth, in the universe, is smaller than a spec of dust. Still, the people on it draw boundaries and threaten each other as though possession of all of it was important. Three quarters of the earth is water. This leaves 25 per cent. Of that, half is within the Arctic and Antarctic circles or is mountainous or sandy desert.

That leaves 12½ per cent. Of that, 6,300,000,000 people will soon have to live on some of it, and that leaves less than 10 percent on which to grow food. This, in round figures, comes to about 16 billion acres. It sounds like a lot, but scientists figure that two and a half acres are required to keep one person fed and clothed. In the year 2000, the people will need 15,750,000,000 acres, if all are under cultivation. Some of this, sadly enough, will be cities and parks, airports and forest — so we can't farm all of it.

The total cannot be made greater because all living plants are nourished by the top seven inches of the earth which we call topsoil. All the corn and oats and wheat and spinach — even the grass for feeding cattle, comes off the top seven inches. It requires between 300 years and 1,000 years to grow a cubic inch of new topsoil.

In Greece, only two percent of the land has any topsoil. Greece imports food. Turkey once had great forests. The land was stripped; the rain tore the topsoil loose and now Tarsus, which was once a seaport, lies 10 miles behind all the silt.

In the United States 30 years ago, a billion tons of topsoil blew out to sea each year because the farmers robbed the land of its nourishment. That has been stopped and the U. S. has 460,000,000 acres of good cropland left. American farmers are much more careful of the land today.

Should the course of inflation proceed on a scale equal to its progression since price controls were lifted, there will be a minimum wage law of $3 an hour in the year 2000. This is what a grocery clerk or an office boy will get. A truck driver may earn $9 an hour under union scale, but he will pay $2.80 a pound for the cheapest roundsteak and milk will be 82 cents a quart.

There will be 126,000,000 people ready to fill 110,000,000 jobs, so that 16,000,00 on unemployment insurance is what we can expect in prosperous times. It is debatable whether the nation will have a 4-day work week, but it is probable. Even so, purchasing power will be no greater than it is now.

A loaf of bread will cost 70 cents. A small apartment will rent for $240 a month. Workmen's shoes will cost $32 a pair. A sandwich, a piece of pie and a cup of coffee in a beanery will come to $2.40.

The sky will have dozens of space stations. They will average 120 feet in diameter and look like big cycle wheels. Each will carry 50 men who will live in the rim for 90 days. The bike wheels will rotate slowly to keep stabilized.

The will be used as refueling stations for space ships, as radar spies on other nations, as relay stations for overseas television programs and as missile forts.

Forgive me if I smile a little. I won't be around for any of this. . .

Most Healthy Couples Can Have Children

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The majority of normal, healthy married couples are able to have children within two years after marriage. In contrast to these complete families, are the 10 per cent who are unable to reproduce. But modern science has much to offer childless couples, 40 per cent of whom can be helped.

The barren pair should not be overly concerned or resort to complicated diagnostic tests or surgery until two years have elapsed. It is true that sterility problems increase among those who do not conceive after one year but the odds are too good to be pessimistic.

In addition, tension and unrest may contribute to sterility. Relax, give nature a chance, and wait two years before consulting a physician about sterility. When the time comes, both husband and wife should undergo a thorough examination, including special tests to determine whether the sperm are healthy, the reproductive organs normal, and the tubes open.

More than one cause might be found. It is surprising how often infertility stems from general health problems. Pregnancy often follows corrections in diet, rest, metabolism (thyroid), sex hygiene, and the avoidance of tension and anxiety.

Conception has occurred after weight reduction or the use of thyroid extract when metabolism was low. In some instances, both husband and wife are exhausted physically, mentally, and sexually. A long quiet vacation produces results.

Newer advances in our knowledge of hormones have been helpful. The same applies to disorders that can be corrected surgically. A new and safe fertility tape, using glucose, was reported recently. This simple procedure tells the woman when she is most susceptible to conception.

TOMORROW: Ganglion and other tumors.

WALKING TALL

A. S. writes: What is the maximum a person in the early forties can stretch himself and how long will it last?

REPLY

An inch, for a few minutes. On the other hand, the additional height may last longer if a stooped person decides to walk tall with the head held high and the shoulders back.

HIGH GRADE PROTEINS

G. A. D. writes: What is in the best proteins that entitles them to be called high grade?

REPLY

Protein foods are broken down into many different amino acids during the process of digestion. Meat, fish, milk, and eggs are considered high grade because of their complete amino acid composition and good digestibility.

TEETH

S. S. writes: If an 8 year old still has some baby teeth, should they be pulled so the second set can come through?

REPLY

See your dentist. You do not say what baby teeth your 8 year old has left. The first set usually is gone by age 12. The roots of these deciduous teeth absorb as a rule but if they don't, and the teeth remain in the mouth, the second teeth will erupt in front of or behind them. Your dentist will want to see an X-ray because occasionally the baby teeth have no successors and will have to function as permanent teeth.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Two wall-mottoes spotted by Hollywood's ever-alert Herb Stein: 1. We like your attitude—but what are you doing? 2. Knowledge is power—if you know it about the right person.

A Texas youngster came home covered with oil. "Junior," his mother rebuked him, "how often have I told you not to dig holes in the back yard?"

Asked his secret of being a fine actor, Alfred Lunt explained blithely, "I speak in a loud, clear voice — and keep from bumping into the furniture."

Vernon Law Wins 11th Over Cards

St. Louis Rally Stopped By Face In 3 To 2 Battle

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Elroy Face walked in from the bullpen in the ninth inning Tuesday night to preserve Vernon Law's 11th victory by squelching a St. Louis uprising to enable the Pittsburgh Pirates to eke out a 3-2 triumph.

Going into the ninth, Law had a five-hitter, but was tagged for successive singles by Walt Moryn, Carl Sawatski, and Curt Flood with no outs. Face came in and his first heroic feat was to pick off pinch-runner Curt Simmons at second. Then he struck out Daryl Spencer and pinch - hitter Stan Musial to help the league-leading Pirates to their sixth victory in their last seven games.

Dick Groat drove in two runs to help Law defeat the Cardinals for the third time this season. The Pirates counted all their tallies off loser Bob Gibson. Bill Mazeroski led off the third with a single, advanced on Law's sacrifice and scored on Groat's single. The pattern was nearly repeated in the fifth when Mazeroski singled, moved on Law's sacrifice and came home on Bill Virdon's single. Virdon took second on Joe Cunningham's throw to the plate and scored on Groat's single to right.

The relief stint was Face's 10th save of the season.

Ford Blanks Tigers, 6-0

Yankee Southpaw Shows Rare Form

DETROIT (UPI) — Southpaw Whitey Ford, whose pitching this year has been one of Casey Stengel's major headaches, regained his winning form Tuesday night and pitched the league - leading New York Yankees to a 6-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Ford, who had not won since May 26, took a three-game losing streak into Tuesday night's contest. But against Detroit he appeared to be the Whitey of yesteryear as he held the Tigers to four harmless singles.

The hard-throwing southpaw retired the last 17 men he faced to record his third victory in eight decisions.

It was the fifth straight triumph for the red-hot Yanks and their 12th in the last 13 games.

Whitey's shutout was the third in a row fired against the Tigers, who were blanked twice Sunday by the Baltimore Orioles.

Mickey Mantle connected for his 15th and 16th home runs of the year to lead New York's attack against their old nemesis, Frank Lary.

Lary, who has a lifetime record of 22 victories over the Yanks, was shelled from the box in the seventh. The Yanks combed Lary for 11 hits and five of their runs.

The Yanks scored their sixth run in the ninth off Tom Morgan on two singles and Chicago Fernandez's throwing error.

It was Lary's seventh loss against six victories.

Phils Turn Back Cubs In 13th, 7-6

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Rookie outfielder Tony Curry's two - out single scored the winning run in the 13th inning Tuesday night as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Chicago Cubs, 7-6, in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

Al Dark opened the 13th with a single, was sacrificed to second by Bobby Del Greco, and took third on a wild pitch by loser Glen Hobbie, the third Cub pitcher.

Hobbie struck out Ted Lepcio but then Curry slashed a single past the mound which Don Zimmer batted down but could not field as Dark romped home with the winning run.

The home runs highlighted the four-hour and six-minute game as Ernie Banks hit his 19th and 20th for the Cubs and rookie Ken Walters hit two and Frank Herrera one for the Phils.

Braves Top Giants, 9-6

Piche Helps Brunet Post 1st Major Win

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves clobbered San Francisco's pitchers for 11 hits, including three homers and four doubles and defeated the Giants 9-6 Tuesday night in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader.

The Braves nailed down the two-hit relief pitching of rookie right-hander Ron Piche, who came on in the sixth and preserved southpaw George Brunet's first major league victory.

Brunet was lifted for a pinch hitter in the fifth after the Giants had shot into a 5-4 lead in their half of the inning on a three-run homer by Willie Mays, his 12th of the year, and a solo blast by Orlando Cepeda, his 14th.

Young Boy Was Fox

When veteran umpire Bill Summers once threw Pete Suder, the Philadelphia A's second baseman, out of the game, Athletics' manager Connie Mack protested to Summers: "William, all I've got to put in for him is a young boy."

"Then trot out the young boy," Summers said.

The young boy, according to Summers in the current issue of Look, was Nellie Fox.

Three Pen-Mar League Battles Set For Today

Hyndman To Seek 5th Straight Win

Six of the eight teams in the Pen-Mar Baseball League are scheduled to swing into action today in games at Barrelville, Frostburg and Flintstone.

Manager "Buck" Fiorita's front running Barrelville Old Exports, leading Moorefield by one game, is slated to host the Salisbury (Pa.) Cardinals today. Barrelville is 8-2 and Salisbury owns a 3-7 record. The Old Exports copped the series opener by the score of 5-2.

Joe Langan's Frostburg Merchants play host to the Centerville Reds today in the Mountain City. The Reds are 4-5 while Frostburg has won four and lost six. The Pennsylvanians took the first game of the series by the score of 9-3.

Hyndman, occupant of third place with a 6-3 record, tackles Charley Doyle's Flintstone Farmers (2-9) at Flintstone. Hyndman will be angling for its fifth straight victory after having knocked off Mt. Savage, Moorefield, Salisbury and Barrelville in its last four outings. Gene Stair's tossers hold an 11-3 decision over the Farmers whose only wins this season came via the forfeit route.

Moorefield plays host to Mt. Savage on Saturday.

Johansson-Moore Bout Is Sought

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Promoters Cal and Aileen Eaton Tuesday offered Ingemar Johansson and Archie Moore $250,000 apiece to fight 12 rounds here in September, the winner to meet Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson.

The proposed match would be held in Memorial Coliseum.

The promoting team also put in a bid to stage a third Patterson-Johansson title fight, in conjunction with New York's Feature Sports, Inc., if the other match is not made.

Diveronica Fights Fullmer Tonight

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Jay Fullmer and Dickie Diveronica, a pair of promising 140-pounders, tangle Wednesday night in a vest-pocket version of the Fullmer-Basilio title fight a week later.

The 10-round junior welterweight scrap will be televised and broadcast nationally (ABC-9 p.m., EST) from Uticas new four-million-dollar Memorial Auditorium. A capacity crowd of 6,200 is expected.

The 23-year-old Fullmer, younger brother of middleweight champion Gene, has won 19 of 25 bouts.

Diveronica, 22, is a close companion of Carmen Basilio, who hopes to wrest Gene Fullmer's 160-pound title, as recognized by the National Boxing Assn., in Salt Lake City June 29.

Diveronica, from nearby Canastota, won 19 straight before being stopped by Jackie Donnelly of Buffalo.

Sets World Record

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI)—Armin Hary of Germany bettered the world record for the 100-meter dash Tuesday when he won that event in an international track and field meet in 10.0 seconds.

Hary performed the feat twice Tuesday, the second time after his first victory was protested.

The accepted world record of 10.1 seconds is held by four Americans—Willie Williams, Ira Murchison, Leamon King, and Ray Norton. And on June 10, in a performance still awaiting world recognition, it was tied by Charlie Tidwell of Kansas.

A Mean Tongue

Fiery Paul Richards, now general manager of the Baltimore Orioles, has always had a reputation as having a mean tongue for the umpires.

Richards' favorite insult, according to veteran arbiter Bill Summers in the current issue of Look magazine, is: "You are horse meat."

What kind of beef is that?

Three Pen-Mar League Battles Set For Today

Hyndman To Seek 5th Straight Win

Six of the eight teams in the Pen-Mar Baseball League are scheduled to swing into action today in games at Barrelville, Frostburg and Flintstone.

Manager "Buck" Fiorita's front running Barrelville Old Exports, leading Moorefield by one game, is slated to host the Salisbury (Pa.) Cardinals today. Barrelville is 8-2 and Salisbury owns a 3-7 record. The Old Exports copped the series opener by the score of 5-2.

Joe Langan's Frostburg Merchants play host to the Centerville Reds today in the Mountain City. The Reds are 4-5 while Frostburg has won four and lost six. The Pennsylvanians took the first game of the series by the score of 9-3.

Hyndman, occupant of third place with a 6-3 record, tackles Charley Doyle's Flintstone Farmers (2-9) at Flintstone. Hyndman will be angling for its fifth straight victory after having knocked off Mt. Savage, Moorefield, Salisbury and Barrelville in its last four outings. Gene Stair's tossers hold an 11-3 decision over the Farmers whose only wins this season came via the forfeit route.

Moorefield plays host to Mt. Savage on Saturday.

Johansson-Moore Bout Is Sought

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Promoters Cal and Aileen Eaton Tuesday offered Ingemar Johansson and Archie Moore $250,000 apiece to fight 12 rounds here in September, the winner to meet Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson.

The proposed match would be held in Memorial Coliseum.

The promoting team also put in a bid to stage a third Patterson-Johansson title fight, in conjunction with New York's Feature Sports, Inc., if the other match is not made.

Diveronica Fights Fullmer Tonight

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Jay Fullmer and Dickie Diveronica, a pair of promising 140-pounders, tangle Wednesday night in a vest-pocket version of the Fullmer-Basilio title fight a week later.

The 10-round junior welterweight scrap will be televised and broadcast nationally (ABC-9 p.m., EST) from Uticas new four-million-dollar Memorial Auditorium. A capacity crowd of 6,200 is expected.

The 23-year-old Fullmer, younger brother of middleweight champion Gene, has won 19 of 25 bouts.

Diveronica, 22, is a close companion of Carmen Basilio, who hopes to wrest Gene Fullmer's 160-pound title, as recognized by the National Boxing Assn., in Salt Lake City June 29.

Diveronica, from nearby Canastota, won 19 straight before being stopped by Jackie Donnelly of Buffalo.

Sets World Record

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI)—Armin Hary of Germany bettered the world record for the 100-meter dash Tuesday when he won that event in an international track and field meet in 10.0 seconds.

Hary performed the feat twice Tuesday, the second time after his first victory was protested.

The accepted world record of 10.1 seconds is held by four Americans—Willie Williams, Ira Murchison, Leamon King, and Ray Norton. And on June 10, in a performance still awaiting world recognition, it was tied by Charlie Tidwell of Kansas.

A Mean Tongue

Fiery Paul Richards, now general manager of the Baltimore Orioles, has always had a reputation as having a mean tongue for the umpires.

Richards' favorite insult, according to veteran arbiter Bill Summers in the current issue of Look magazine, is: "You are horse meat."

What kind of beef is that?

Sheep Killed By Stray Dogs

Stray dogs running in packs last week cost the Allegany County Board of Commissioners $150 in claims for sheep killed.

Chester N. Wilson, of Rush, was ordered paid $120 for 12 sheep which were slain by the dogs while W. C. Crabtree, Oldtown, was ordered paid $30 for three of his sheep which were killed.

The payments are made under an old county law which provides for the payment when the sheep have been listed under the personal property tax system of the county.

Sheep Killed By Stray Dogs

Stray dogs running in packs last week cost the Allegany County Board of Commissioners $150 in claims for sheep killed.

Chester N. Wilson, of Rush, was ordered paid $120 for 12 sheep which were slain by the dogs while W. C. Crabtree, Oldtown, was ordered paid $30 for three of his sheep which were killed.

The payments are made under an old county law which provides for the payment when the sheep have been listed under the personal property tax system of the county.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of James A. Lowery, who died 2 years ago today, June 22, 1958.
You bade no one a last farewell,
You said goodbye to none;
Your heart just ceased to beat
And suddenly you were gone.
At the time when life could be so sweet,
And you could have lived your best;
The gates of Heaven opened
And you entered into eternal rest.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of James A. Lowery, who died 2 years ago today, June 22, 1958.
You bade no one a last farewell,
You said goodbye to none;
Your heart just ceased to beat
And suddenly you were gone.
At the time when life could be so sweet,
And you could have lived your best;
The gates of Heaven opened
And you entered into eternal rest.
Wife, MRS. JESSIE M. LOWERY.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
STATE ROADS COMMISSION OF MARYLAND, Acting for and on behalf of the STATE OF MARYLAND vs. CORRIGANVILLE VOLUNTEER FIRE CO., INC., Corriganville, Allegany County, Maryland, Trustee; All residents of the Town of Corriganville, Allegany County, Maryland, Beneficiaries. No. 4045 Law IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR ALLEGANY COUNTY. Filed June 2" 1960.

PETITION NO. 4045
The object of this suit is to acquire by condemnation certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Twentieth Election District of Allegany County, Maryland, belonging to Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company, Inc., Trustee, All residents of the Town of Corriganville, Beneficiaries and the County Commissioners for Allegany County.
The State Roads Commission of Maryland is charged with the construction and maintenance of highways and bridges in the State of Maryland.
That they have determined it to be necessary and proper to acquire for the purposes referred to in said Petition, and in connection with the construction and maintenance of the highway system of the State, certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Twentieth Election District of Allegany County, consisting of 1.20 acres, more or less, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on the attached Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, and also all that property outside said lines, outlined by shading as shown and/or indicated on the attached Plat No. 22158 consisting of 2.23 acres, more or less, and .067 acres, more or less, for slope and drainage easements, as shown on Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428.
TOGETHER with the buildings and improvements thereon and the rights, alleys, ways, waters, roads, privileges, appurtenances and advantages to the same belonging or in anywise appertaining, together with the right or easement to create, use and maintain on the land shown hatched thus on the hereinbefore mentioned Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, insofar as their property rights extend, such drainage structures and facilities as are necessary to adequately drain the roadway and/or adjacent property and such slopes as are necessary to retain the said roadway and/or adjacent property, it being understood that at such time as the contour of the land over which this right or easement is acquired is changed so that this easement required for slopes is no longer necessary to support or protect the property hereby to be acquired in fee simple, then said easement for slopes shall cease to be effective, together with the right to create, use and maintain on or across the adjacent land of the defendants, such waterways and/or inlets and outlets as are necessary for the drainage structures indicated in the legend shown in the left hand corner of the hereinbefore mentioned Plats Nos. 15668, 22158, 15669 and 16428, together with any right, title and interest of the defendants in and to the existing bed of Cash Valley Road, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, together with any right, title and interest of the defendants in and to the existing bed of Maryland Route #36, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, together with the perpetual right to erect and maintain between October 1st and April 1st of each and every year, on the adjacent land of the defendants, within one hundred feet of the land hereby condemned in fee simple, snow fences, provided that said snow fences shall not interfere with the construction and use of buildings now erected or hereafter erected, with growing crops, or roadways, together with all the right whatsoever of vehicular ingress and egress between the highway and the remaining property of the defendants across the right of way lines which are marked "Throughout This Portion Of The Right Of Way All Vehicular Access Is Denied", to the end that there never will be any vehicular access to or from the highway and the remaining property of the defendants across those portions of the right of way lines which are so marked on the beforementioned Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428.
The Petition further states that the said property is now held under the provisions of a Will of Joseph C. Corrigan, deceased to Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company, Trustee, probated on March 14, 1947 in Liber No. "V", Folio 420, among the Will Records of Allegany County, Maryland.
(a) The property hereby sought to be condemned is subject to the lien of real estate taxes levied by and due the County Commissioners for Allegany County.
That the land and property is sought to be condemned in connection with the State System of Roads and Bridges, and especially for the construction of Maryland Route 36, from U. S. Route 40 to Corriganville in Allegany County, Maryland.
That the Petitioner is unable to make an agreement with the defendants and that the Petitioner has deposited a check under the provisions of Chapter 89 of the Acts of 1956, in the amount of Six Hundred Thirty and are herewith depositing an additional check in the sum of One Thousand, One hundre Seventy, making a total of One Thousand Eight Hundred ($1,800.00) Dollars, payable to the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, to the use of the aforesaid defendants, in the hands of the said Clerk, in conformity with the provisions of Article 89B, Section 9, Public General Laws of Maryland, said Petitioner deeming the said sum to be the fair value of the land taken and damages done to the property, and that it is in the public interest and necessary for them to take possession immediately upon depositing said money and that they are taking possession for the aforesaid purposes.
That your Petitioner is unable to designate by name all persons having an interest in the hereinbefore described parcel of land by reason of the indefinite nature of same, and your Petitioner accordingly makes parties to this proceeding, All Residents of the Town of Corriganville, Beneficiaries, to the end that all of their right, title and interest of whatever extent or character may be divested of them and vested in the State Roads Commission of Maryland, acting for and on behalf of the State of Maryland.
IT IS THEREUPON ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, this 3 day of June, 1960, that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Allegany County, State of Maryland, once a week in each of four successive weeks before the 7" day of July, 1960, shall give notice to the Defendants, All residents of the Town of Corriganville, Beneficiaries, of the substance and object of the petition and to appear in the Circuit Court for Allegany County on or before the 9" day of August, 1960, and file their answer or other initial pleading in the Clerk's office of said Court, at Cumberland, Maryland, and to show cause, if any they may have, why the said property or said Defendants' interest therein should not be condemned as prayed in said Petition.

Innumerable cases arise at the bridge table in which one partner is anxious to reach the other's hand in a hurry and he is up against a guess as to how to do so in the early stages of the play. As the hand develops, partners usually have the opportunity to use the ordinary signals by means of high and low discards. But many times it is necessary for a defender to obtain this information before discards can be made. To answer this need the modern "lead directing convention" has been devised.

West opened the three of diamonds, an obvious singleton, against the five club contract today. This was won by declarer's ace as East followed with the deuce. A low club was led at trick two, West ran up with the ace and now had to guess how to give his partner the lead. With no clue to guide him he elected to lead the six of hearts and the declarer romped off with the rest of the tricks, the diamonds being used for three spade discards. A spade lead would have defeated the contract. "There was no way I could tell you, partner," was East's comment. "I had no chance to signal."

But there was a way. The lead directing convention provides that, when a defender makes an unnatural play which is obviously not a normal signal, it should be interpreted as indicating which of the remaining suits he desires led. An unnecessarily high card (which is obviously not a come on signal) calls for the higher ranking suit and an unnecessarily low card for the lower ranking suit. On the first club play East should have dropped the seven of diamonds. This is obviously not a signal to continue diamonds. It must, therefore, be interpreted as a message to partner to lead the higher ranking of the two remaining suits, spades. When West is in with the ace of trumps, he need not guess.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
STATE ROADS COMMISSION OF MARYLAND, Acting for and on behalf of the STATE OF MARYLAND vs. CORRIGANVILLE VOLUNTEER FIRE CO., INC., Corriganville, Allegany County, Maryland, Trustee; All residents of the Town of Corriganville, Allegany County, Maryland, Beneficiaries. No. 4045 Law IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR ALLEGANY COUNTY. Filed June 2nd 1960.

PETITION NO. 4045

The object of this suit is to acquire by condemnation certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Twentieth Election District of Allegany County, Maryland, belonging to Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company, Inc., Trustee. All residents of the Town of Corriganville, Beneficiaries and the County Commissioners for Allegany County.

The State Roads Commission of Maryland is charged with the construction and maintenance of highways and bridges in the State of Maryland.

That they have determined it to be necessary and proper to acquire for the purposes referred to in said Petition, and in connection with the construction and maintenance of the highway system of the State, certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Twentieth Election District of Allegany County, consisting of 1.20 acres, more or less, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on the attached Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, and also all that property outside said lines, outlined by shading as shown and/or indicated on the attached Plat No. 22158 consisting of 2.23 acres, more or less, and .067 acres, more or less, for slope and drainage easements, as shown on Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428.

TOGETHER with the buildings and improvements thereon and the rights, alleys, ways, waters, roads, privileges, appurtenances and advantages to the same belonging or in anywise appertaining, together with the right or easement to create, use and maintain on the land shown hatched thus on the hereinbefore mentioned Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, insofar as their property rights extend, such drainage structures and facilities as are necessary to adequately drain the roadway and/or adjacent property and such slopes as are necessary to retain the said roadway and/or adjacent property, it being understood that at such time as the contour of the land over which this right or easement is acquired is changed so that this easement required for slopes is no longer necessary to support or protect the property hereby to be acquired in fee simple, then said easement for slopes shall cease to be effective, together with the right to create, use and maintain on or across the adjacent land of the defendants, such waterways and/or inlets and outlets as are necessary for the drainage structures indicated in the legend shown in the left hand corner of the hereinbefore mentioned Plats Nos. 15668, 22158, 15669 and 16428, together with any right, title and interest of the defendants in and to the existing bed of Cash Valley Road, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, together with any right, title and interest of the defendants in and to the existing bed of Maryland Route #36, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, together with the perpetual right to erect and maintain between October 1st and April 1st of each and every year, on the adjacent land of the defendants, within one hundred feet of the land hereby condemned in fee simple, snow fences, provided that said snow fences shall not interfere with the construction and use of buildings now erected or hereafter erected, with growing crops, or roadways, together with all the right whatsoever of vehicular ingress and egress between the highway and the remaining property of the defendants across the right of way lines which are marked "Throughout This Portion Of The Right Of Way All Vehicular Access Is Denied", to the end that there never will be any vehicular access to or from the highway and the remaining property of the defendants across those portions of the right of way lines which are so marked on the beforementioned Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428.

The Petition further states that the said property is now held under the provisions of a Will of Joseph C. Corrigan, deceased to Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company, Trustee, probated on March 14, 1947 in Liber No. "V", Folio 420, among the Will Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

(a) The property hereby sought to be condemned is subject to the lien of real estate taxes levied by and due the County Commissioners for Allegany County.

That the land and property is sought to be condemned in connection with the State System of Roads and Bridges, and especially for the construction of Maryland Route 36, from U. S. Route 40 to Corriganville in Allegany County, Maryland.

That the Petitioner is unable to make an agreement with the defendants and that the Petitioner has deposited a check under the provisions of Chapter 59 of the Acts of 1956, in the amount of Six Hundred Thirty and are herewith depositing an additional check in the sum of One Thousand, One hundre Seventy, making a total of One Thousand Eight Hundred ($1,800.00) Dollars, payable to the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, to the use of the aforesaid defendants, in the hands of the said Clerk, in conformity with the provisions of Article 89B, Section 9, Public General Laws of Maryland, said Petitioner deeming the said sum to be the fair value of the land taken and damages done to the property, and that it is in the public interest and necessary for them to take possession immediately upon depositing said money and that they are taking possession for the aforesaid purposes.

That your Petitioner is unable to designate by name all persons having an interest in the hereinbefore described parcel of land by reason of the indefinite nature of same, and your Petitioner accordingly makes parties to this proceeding, All Residents of the Town of Corriganville, Beneficiaries, to the end that all of their right, title and interest of whatever extent or character may be divested of them and vested in the State Roads Commission of Maryland, acting for and on behalf of the State of Maryland.

IT IS THEREUPON ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, this 3 day of June, 1960, that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Allegany County, State of Maryland, once a week in each of four successive weeks before the 7th day of July, 1960, shall give notice to the Defendants, All residents of the Town of Corriganville, Beneficiaries, of the substance and object of the petition and to appear in the Circuit Court for Allegany County on or before the 9th day of August, 1960, and file their answer or other initial pleading in the Clerk's office of said Court, at Cumberland, Maryland, and to show cause, if any they may have, why the said property or said Defendants' interest therein should not be condemned as prayed in said Petition.

Innumerable cases arise at the bridge table in which one partner is anxious to reach the other's hand in a hurry and he is up against a guess as to how to do so in the early stages of the play. As the hand develops, partners usually have the opportunity to use the ordinary signals by means of high and low discards. But many times it is necessary for a defender to obtain this information before discards can be made. To answer this need the modern "lead directing convention" has been devised.

West opened the three of diamonds, an obvious singleton, against the five club contract today. This was won by declarer's ace as East followed with the deuce. A low club was led at trick two, West ran up with the ace and now had to guess how to give his partner the lead. With no clue to guide him he elected to lead the six of hearts and the declarer romped off with the rest of the tricks, the diamonds being used for three spade discards. A spade lead would have defeated the contract. "There was no way I could tell you, partner," was East's comment. "I had no chance to signal."

But there was a way. The lead directing convention provides that, when a defender makes an unnatural play which is obviously not a normal signal, it should be interpreted as indicating which of the remaining suits he desires led. An unnecessarily high card (which is obviously not a come on signal) calls for the higher ranking suit and an unnecessarily low card for the lower ranking suit. On the first club play East should have dropped the seven of diamonds. This is obviously not a signal to continue diamonds. It must, therefore, be interpreted as a message to partner to lead the higher ranking of the two remaining suits, spades. When West is in with the ace of trumps, he need not guess.

Globe For Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope John XXIII received a large, special globe of the world Tuesday and, just like anybody else, immediately looked up his birthplace.

The four-foot in diameter globe outlines the boundaries of the 2,200 Catholic dioceses of the world. It was presented by the Divine Word Missionary Fathers.

Market Declines Again After Late Profit-Taking

NEW YORK (UPI)—Profit-taking overtook the stock market again Tuesday, but this time the electronics and many of the recent high - flying specials were clobbered.

The industrial stock average suffered its sixth setback in eight sessions by closing at 644.93 off 2.95 on the day. Blue chip losers included Union Carbide and General Foods, each off more than 2, and International Paper, Owens-Illinois, Procter & Gamble, American Tobacco and Westinghouse, each off a point or more.

Despite the recent rash of declines, few if any technicians feel the summer rally is over almost before it began. However, these sources point out, interest on the upside must broaden sufficiently to support a fresh advance.

Oils, erratic most of the session, rallied toward the close to finish with gains of 2⅞ in Texaco and a half or more in Standard of California and Jersey Standard.

Interest in the oils apparently was spurred by the report of an industry association that refiners have made progress in correcting excess inventories of refined products and that demand for U.S. petroleum products would rise more than 3 per cent during the third quarter.

Market Declines Again After Late Profit-Taking

NEW YORK (UPI)—Profit-taking overtook the stock market again Tuesday, but this time the electronics and many of the recent high - flying specials were clobbered.

The industrial stock average suffered its sixth setback in eight sessions by closing at 644.93 off 2.95 on the day. Blue chip losers included Union Carbide and General Foods, each off more than 2, and International Paper, Owens-Illinois, Procter & Gamble, American Tobacco and Westinghouse, each off a point or more.

Despite the recent rash of declines, few if any technicians feel the summer rally is over almost before it began. However, these sources point out, interest on the upside must broaden sufficiently to support a fresh advance.

Oils, erratic most of the session, rallied toward the close to finish with gains of 2⅞ in Texaco and a half or more in Standard of California and Jersey Standard.

Interest in the oils apparently was spurred by the report of an industry association that refiners have made progress in correcting excess inventories of refined products and that demand for U.S. petroleum products would rise more than 3 per cent during the third quarter.

Police Probing Entry Into Four Establishments

Windows Broken By Intruders

City Police Detective Lieutenant James E. Van yesterday was kept busy investigating four breaking and enterings of local business establishments late Monday night or early yesterday morning.

Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney said the breaking and enterings were reported at the Buchanan Lumber Company, Cumberland Cooperative of Southern States, Cumberland Lincoln - Mercury Garage and the Texaco Service Station at the end of North Mechanic Street.

In his initial investigation Van learned that nothing apparently was taken from the lumber firm. The intruder or intruders broke a lock off a rear door and entered through the mill section.

A glass in the office door was broken. A check and $1.50 in change was left untouched on the desk, Van said.

About three dollars was reported taken from the Southern States Co-op, where a window was broken in the rear of the building and entry was made to the office, where the money was taken from a cash drawer.

Van said about $10 in silver was taken from the service station which was broken into sometime after 10:30 p. m. Monday. A glass window was broken in the rear along the Wills Creek wall and entry was made through the grease rack room.

A knob and plate was removed from a wooden door connecting the office and grease room, according to Van, who said the culprit removed a drawer from the register and carried it to the grease room where the contents were removed.

A window in the ladies room also was broken. Van said a soft drink machine outside the building was broken into.

At the garage, entrance was gained from the rear of an office at a small ramp along the creek wall. A metal cabinet was forced open and contents scattered about the premises.

Pictured, left to right, are Miss Grace Hardman, a public Health nurse for 27 years until her retirement; Mrs. Etta M. Price, who served on the staff of the State Health Department's branch laboratory here for 32 years until her retirement; Miss Doris Messman, president of the Social Group; Dr. Ton van Strien, director of the County Health Department, and Miss Jeannette L. Bonig, executive secretary of Associated Charities. The Social Group includes staff members of the County Health Department, Branch Laboratory, League For Crippled Children and Associated Charities.

Municipal Unit In Favor Of Urban Renewal

Intangible Values Are Cited By Tate

OCEAN CITY, Md (AP)—Maryland municipal officials went on record in favor of urban renewal Tuesday after a state official told them renewal has hidden values.

The Maryland Municipal League passed a resolution urging state residents to support a constitutional amendment — to be voted on in the November election — which would permit cities, towns and counties to engage in urban renewal programs.

Only Baltimore City now has the authority to have urban renewal programs.

Earlier in the day, the officials heard from William A. Pate, deputy director of the Maryland Department of Economic Development. Besides the obvious benefits of higher property values, more retail sales and increased tax revenue, Pate said, renewal has intangible values.

"It is here that a community rehabilitation program becomes important," he said, "not only for what it does, but for what it reveals about community attitude.

"When a prospect comes to a community with an active planning and zoning system, and with an urban renewal project under way, he knows he is dealing with an alert, progressive community."

The renewal resolution was one of three passed by 230 league members at the concluding session of the league's two-day June conference.

Another supported a proposal before Congress to establish a federal study commission on problems of towns with less than 10,000 population and counties. It would be appointed by the President.

The third resolution reaffirmed the league's satisfaction with home rule for municipalities and reaffirmed its efforts to resist any repeal of the Model Home Rule Charter by the General Assembly.

Alan Beals, league executive secretary, said home rule has been operating satisfactorily in Maryland for about five years.

C&O Canal Bill Makes Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would establish the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal National Historical Park in Maryland was approved by the Senate Interior Committee Tuesday.

The first 20 miles of the original 185-mile canal out of Washington is a national capital park, administered by the National Capital Park Agency.

A bill by Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md), would establish the remaining 165 miles of canal to Cumberland, Md., as a national historical park to be administered by the National Park Service.

The area includes approximately 4,800 acres.

Committee staff members said the bill originally would have given the government authority to acquire up to 15,000 acres to provide facilities for park visitors and to build a 25-mile roadway.

Because some House members objected to similar items in a House bill, they were eliminated from the Senate measure, aides to the Senate committee said. Their cost had been estimated at about 12 million dollars.

Woman Injured In Crash Near Pa. State Line

Mrs. Emma Tucker, Keyser, Hospitalized

A 42-year-old Keyser, W. Va., woman was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday with injuries sustained in a one-car accident on U.S. Route 220 about one half mile north of the Pennsylvania state line in Bedford County.

Mrs. Emma Tucker suffered a right shoulder and back injury and laceration of her head and was in "satisfactory" condition, attaches said.

Her daughter, Constance Carol Tucker, 24, was driver of the car which went out of control on a turn on the wet pavement, careened up an embankment on the left of the highway and turned over.

The daughter apparently was not injured, according to Pennsylvania State Police, who investigated the accident at 5 p. m. (EST).

The car was traveling south on Route 220 in the direction of Cumberland. No charges were preferred, police said.

George Aten, director of Maryland, District of Columbia and Delaware Moose Association, will be a guest speaker.

Certificates Unclaimed

Appointments by Governor J. Millard Tawes generally are considered important and yet six commissions signed by Governor Tawes and Secretary of State Thomas B. Finan have not yet been picked up at the office of Joseph E. Boden clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Dr. Adam Baer of Frostburg has two commissions waiting for him at the Court House. One is reappointment to a three-year term beginning June 1 on the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners. He also received a five-year appointment to the new Board of Library Trustees for Allegany County.

The new library board had its organizational meeting Monday night but only three of the seven members had received their oaths of office and commissions. County Commissioner John T. Mason, Mrs. Jeannette C. Johnson of LaVale and Okey Michael of Westernport have received their commissions. Still unclaimed besides Dr. Baer's are those for W. Wallace McKaig, James Alfred Avirett and F. Allan Weatherholt, all of this city.

Another commission still at the Court House names Dr. Leslie E. Daugherty to the Advisory Council on Hospital Construction for three years from June 1, 1960.

Blue Cross Plan Aired

BALTIMORE (AP) — The state insurance commissioner still is against a deductible Blue Cross policy but he said Tuesday "conditions may arise which may make me change my mind."

F. Douglass Sears, the commissioner, has taken no action on a proposal made in January by Blue Cross to offer a policy in which the patient would pay part of the hospital cost in return for lower premiums.

"I am not an advocate of the deductible type policy," Sears said Tuesday. "The public has been educated to expect full coverage under the Blue Cross hospitalization plan.

"At the moment, I believe it is in the public's best interest to oppose deductible plans. However, conditions may arise which may make me change my mind."

Those conditions probably are the rising hospital costs. Ten Maryland hospitals have raised fees since the first of this year, and Blue Cross is expected to follow with a request for higher rates.

In its deductible plan, a subscriber would pay $25 to the hospital for the first day and $5 daily for the next 15 days. In return, the Blue Cross rates would average 21½ per cent less than to subscribers with full coverage.

Army Steps Up Its Enlistment Program Here

The U.S. Army has stepped up its enlistment program, M/Sgt. Virgil F. Smith, local recruiter reported yesterday.

During the summer months enlistment vacancies are open in more than 60 vocational fields, and direct enlistment into most of these is now possible.

In order to meet an increased demand for men in certain classifications, recruiters are urged to seek highly skilled personnel interested in electronics and other technical fields.

The Army is extending its guaranteed schooling program to qualified high school graduates and 136 subjects requiring special training are now offered volunteers.

Under this guaranteed program, Sgt. Smith explains, an enlistee is guaranteed a school or career field which he selects and for which he is qualified.

When they apply, Sgt. Smith noted, application for Specialist Training goes to the Adjutant General for approval before enlistment is completed.

Enlistees are then guaranteed their choice before they are sworn in. After eight weeks of basic training and two weeks leave, the GI's then enter the school for formal training in their chosen field.

The number of personnel selected for each class and for each subject and school, will be limited so high school graduates interested in extending their education in any particular field, should apply now, so they will be ready when classes are open. Classes will open in June, July and August, and those who apply early will get first consideration.

Grant Approved For Opposition To Gas Boost

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Board of Public Works Tuesday approved a grant of $7,500 from the state's emergency reserve fund to gather data for opposing a rate increase requested by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co.

The money was requested by Rudolf A. Carrico, people's counsel to the Public Service Commission, to hire outside auditing and legal assistance.

Gov. Tawes had earlier told Allegany and Garrett county officials he would grant any necessary funds for examining the proposed rate hike.

The governor, recovering from an intestinal operation, was not at the meeting attended by Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and Treasurer Hooper S. Miles.

When Budget Director James G. Rennie read the letter from Carrico requesting funds, Goldstein moved immediately that they be granted. "I don't see any reason for gas rates to keep going up in an area where natural gas is produced," 'Goldstein commented.

Cumberland and Allegheny is seeking to boost its net income in Garrett and Allegany counties to $830,056, nearly double the amount realized last year.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the Allegany County commissioners, said in a letter to Tawes that if the increase is granted it will be the fourth for the firm since 1952.

Police Probing Entry Into Four Establishments

Windows Broken By Intruders

City Police Detective Lieutenant James E. Van yesterday was kept busy investigating four breaking and enterings of local business establishments late Monday night or early yesterday morning.

Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney said the breaking and enterings were reported at the Buchanan Lumber Company, Cumberland Cooperative of Southern States, Cumberland Lincoln-Mercury Garage and the Texaco Service Station at the end of North Mechanic Street.

In his initial investigation Van learned that nothing apparently was taken from the lumber firm. The intruder or intruders broke a lock off a rear door and entered through the mill section.

A glass in the office door was broken. A check and $1.50 in change was left untouched on the desk, Van said.

About three dollars was reported taken from the Southern States Co-op, where a window was broken in the rear of the building and entry was made to the office, where the money was taken from a cash drawer.

Van said about $10 in silver was taken from the service station which was broken into sometime after 10:30 p. m. Monday. A glass window was broken in the rear along the Wills Creek wall and entry was made through the grease rack room.

A knob and plate was removed from a wooden door connecting the office and grease room, according to Van, who said the culprit removed a drawer from the register and carried it to the grease room where the contents were removed.

A window in the ladies room also was broken. Van said a soft drink machine outside the building was broken into.

At the garage, entrance was gained from the rear of an office at a small ramp along the creek wall. A metal cabinet was forced open and contents scattered about the premises.

Municipal Unit In Favor Of Urban Renewal

Intangible Values Are Cited By Tate

OCEAN CITY, Md (AP)—Maryland municipal officials went on record in favor of urban renewal Tuesday after a state official told them renewal has hidden values.

The Maryland Municipal League passed a resolution urging state residents to support a constitutional amendment — to be voted on in the November election — which would permit cities, towns and counties to engage in urban renewal programs.

Only Baltimore City now has the authority to have urban renewal programs.

Earlier in the day, the officials heard from William A. Pate, deputy director of the Maryland Department of Economic Development. Besides the obvious benefits of higher property values, more retail sales and increased tax revenue, Pate said, renewal has intangible values.

"It is here that a community rehabilitation program becomes important," he said, "not only for what it does, but for what it reveals about community attitude.

"When a prospect comes to a community with an active planning and zoning system, and with an urban renewal project under way, he knows he is dealing with an alert, progressive community."

The renewal resolution was one of three passed by 230 league members at the concluding session of the league's two-day June conference.

Another supported a proposal before Congress to establish a federal study commission on problems of towns with less than 10,000 population and counties. It would be appointed by the President.

The third resolution reaffirmed the league's satisfaction with home rule for municipalities and reaffirmed its efforts to resist any repeal of the Model Home Rule Charter by the General Assembly.

Alan Beals, league executive secretary, said home rule has been operating satisfactorily in Maryland for about five years.

C&O Canal Bill Makes Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would establish the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal National Historical Park in Maryland was approved by the Senate Interior Committee Tuesday.

The first 20 miles of the original 185-mile canal out of Washington is a national capital park, administered by the National Capital Park Agency.

A bill by Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md), would establish the remaining 165 miles of canal to Cumberland, Md., as a national historical park to be administered by the National Park Service.

The area includes approximately 4,800 acres.

Committee staff members said the bill originally would have given the government authority to acquire up to 15,000 acres to provide facilities for park visitors and to build a 25-mile roadway.

Because some House members objected to similar items in a House bill, they were eliminated from the Senate measure, aides to the Senate committee said. Their cost had been estimated at about 12 million dollars.

Blue Cross Plan Aired

BALTIMORE (AP) — The state insurance commissioner still is against a deductible Blue Cross policy but he said Tuesday "conditions may arise which may make me change my mind."

F. Douglass Sears, the commissioner, has taken no action on a proposal made in January by Blue Cross to offer a policy in which the patient would pay part of the hospital cost in return for lower premiums.

"I am not an advocate of the deductible type policy," Sears said Tuesday. "The public has been educated to expect full coverage under the Blue Cross hospitalization plan.

"At the moment, I believe it is in the public's best interest to oppose deductible plans. However, conditions may arise which may make me change my mind."

Those conditions probably are the rising hospital costs. Ten Maryland hospitals have raised fees since the first of this year, and Blue Cross is expected to follow with a request for higher rates.

In its deductible plan, a subscriber would pay $25 to the hospital for the first day and $5 daily for the next 15 days. In return, the Blue Cross rates would average 21½ per cent less than to subscribers with full coverage.

Woman Injured In Crash Near Pa. State Line

Mrs. Emma Tucker, Keyser, Hospitalized

A 42-year-old Keyser, W. Va., woman was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday with injuries sustained in a one-car accident on U.S. Route 220 about one half mile north of the Pennsylvania state line in Bedford County.

Mrs. Emma Tucker suffered a right shoulder and back injury and laceration of her head and was in "satisfactory" condition, attaches said.

Her daughter, Constance Carol Tucker, 24, was driver of the car which went out of control on a turn on the wet pavement, careened up an embankment on the left of the highway and turned over.

The daughter apparently was not injured, according to Pennsylvania State Police, who investigated the accident at 5 p. m. (EST).

The car was traveling south on Route 220 in the direction of Cumberland. No charges were preferred, police said.

Army Steps Up Its Enlistment Program Here

The U.S. Army has stepped up its enlistment program, M/Sgt. Virgil F. Smith, local recruiter reported yesterday.

During the summer months enlistment vacancies are open in more than 60 vocational fields, and direct enlistment into most of these is now possible.

In order to meet an increased demand for men in certain classifications, recruiters are urged to seek highly skilled personnel interested in electronics and other technical fields.

The Army is extending its guaranteed schooling program to qualified high school graduates and 136 subjects requiring special training are now offered volunteers.

Under this guaranteed program, Sgt. Smith explains, an enlistee is guaranteed a school or career field which he selects and for which he is qualified.

When they apply, Sgt. Smith noted, application for Specialist Training goes to the Adjutant General for approval before enlistment is completed.

Enlistees are then guaranteed their choice before they are sworn in. After eight weeks of basic training and two weeks leave, the GI's then enter the school for formal training in their chosen field.

The number of personnel selected for each class and for each subject and school, will be limited so high school graduates interested in extending their education in any particular field, should apply now, so they will be ready when classes are open. Classes will open in June, July and August, and those who apply early will get first consideration.

Grant Approved For Opposition To Gas Boost

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Board of Public Works Tuesday approved a grant of $7,500 from the state's emergency reserve fund to gather data for opposing a rate increase requested by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co.

The money was requested by Rudolf A. Carrico, people's counsel to the Public Service Commission, to hire outside auditing and legal assistance.

Gov. Tawes had earlier told Allegany and Garrett county officials he would grant any necessary funds for examining the proposed rate hike.

The governor, recovering from an intestinal operation, was not at the meeting attended by Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and Treasurer Hooper S. Miles.

When Budget Director James G. Rennie read the letter from Carrico requesting funds, Goldstein moved immediately that they be granted. "I don't see any reason for gas rates to keep going up in an area where natural gas is produced," 'Goldstein commented.

Cumberland and Allegheny is seeking to boost its net income in Garrett and Allegany counties to $830,056, nearly double the amount realized last year.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the Allegany County commissioners, said in a letter to Tawes that if the increase is granted it will be the fourth for the firm since 1952.
